PEOPLE MUST "PUT UP" FOR CAMPAIGN FUND

Democratic State Committee Nearly Penniless, Seeking a Treasurer.

NO MONEY FROM POLICE

Breweries and Railroads Also Decline to Render Usual Assistance.

NAPIER FOR SECRETARY

Anti-Machine Men Favored for Offices in the Committee's Gift.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Thomas L. Rubey of Lebanon and R. W. Napier of Hamilton, Caldwell County, will probably be elected vice-chairman and secretary of the Democratic State Committee, which met at the Planters' Hotel at 2 p. m. Friday.

Napier is an anti-Stone Democrat, and the fact that a majority of the committe appear to favor him for the secretaryship is accepted by politicians as an evidence of the waning power of the old machine.

U. A. McBride of Warrensburg is also a candidate for secretary. He is supported by Luther S. Hickman, former supervisor of building and loan associations, and other Democrats, whose loyalty to the Folk administration is not considered enthusiastic.

There is not much doubt that Thomas L. Rubey will be appointed vice-chairman. He is the choice of Judge Evans for the place. Some of the committeemen discussed Harry M. Rubey of Macon in this connection, but it is understood he does not want the job.

There are no candidates for the office of treasurer. This will have to be filled by Chairman Evans.

Committee Must Beg.

It was reported Friday that the treasury of the Democratic State Committee being empty, there will be an unlimited amount of work to be done in soliciting subscriptions.

In the 1904 campaign the Democratic Committee collected about $11,000 from the members of the St. Louis Police Department.

"The treasurer is held responsible for lack of funds," said a member of the committee, "hence there is no scramble for the honor."

Some of the committeemen are puzzled to know where the State Committee is going to get funds for the campaign.

The brewers, who have always been liberal contributors, have shut down on the party, and even railroad representatives, in view of the passage of the maximum freight-rate bill, are disposed to withhold contributions. Railroad financiers made up a fund of several thousand dollars for the committee two year ago.

With this influence withdrawn, Chairman Evans and the other Democratic leaders feel they will be compelled to call on the party workers for financial help.

Most of the committeemen arrived Friday morning. Judges Graves and Woodson, Supreme Court candidates, are also on the ground.

Friends of these two judicial aspirants are more than slightly concerned over the prospect in the State.

The old machine is not yet reconciled to the Folk organization, and there is still a lack of absolute harmony.

Danger in the Cities.

One of Gov. Folk's stanchest supporters in Kansas City who attended today's committee meeting is authority for the statement that the Folk organization is on the wane in the western part of the State.

"So far as Kansas City is concerned," said he, "the old crowd has about as much to say as the Folk men. As matters now appear, it would not surprise me if Kansas City rolled up a good-sized majority for the Republican ticket."

St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph should cast a combined majority of 20,000 against the Democratic ticket. It is believed Missouri will remain Republican for two years more.

Senator Kinney sounded a note of warning to party leaders in his interview in Friday's Post-Dispatch when he threatened to quit the State Committee and abandon the leadership in the Fourth Ward, the Democratic Gibraltar of St. Louis, if his constituents were caused further trouble by the Folk administration.

Such an expert political forecaster as Luther Hickman of Warrensburg is not willing to wager better than even money the Democrats will carry Missouri this fall. Formerly he used to offer odds of 2 to 1 on the Democratic ticket.

"While I believe we are going to win," said he Friday, "I can't say that I think the victory will be overwhelming."

A movement is on foot among some of the committeemen to change the present headquarters of the committee. They regard the Planters as too aristocratic for rural Democrats. As evidence of vote in this direction, a number of the committeemen refused to go to the hotel until the meeting was called to order. This question will probably occupy the attention of the committee before adjournment.

Cowboy Outfits Stolen.

Some time between Thursday night's performance and Friday morning thieves entered the Wild West tent on the Jefferson Club Carnival grounds and stole four cowboy coats, four sombreros and four belts with holsters and pistols. The police suspect boys who are ambitious to become terrors of the western plains.

Boy Falls From Roof.

Joe Cabanne, 11 years old, colored, 1507 Cass street, clambered to the top of a two-story building Friday in quest of a kite that was fast. He lost his footing and fell 35 feet. His right leg and arm were fractured, and he was injured internally. He is at the City Hospital, and doctors say his condition is critical.

ONE KILLED AS CROWDED AUTO GOES INTO DITCH

Coachman Caught Under Machine and Crushed to Death on Clayton Road.

GOING 50 MILES AN HOUR

Three Women and Three Children in Vehicle Escape With Trifling Hurts.

MACHINE TURNED OVER

Chauffeur Lost Hat, Turned His Head and Twisted Steering Gear.

Within a few feet of her husband's body, which lay on the grass beside the overturned automobile under which he was crushed to death, Mrs. Alfred Burton told her story of the fatal midnight ride to a Coroner's jury Friday forenoon and the inquest was then adjourned until a late hour, when it will be continued at Clayton. Mrs. Burton, who was grief-stricken, could tell little except that there were nine in their merry party and that suddenly they plunged over a bank in the dark. She said that they did not seem to be going very fast at the time of the accident which was caused by the chauffeur turning his head to look after his hat which had blown off.

In the meantime John Sweet, who was one of the nine persons in the auto when the accident occurred on the Clayton road four miles west of Clayton, was left at Busch's Grove from midnight without medical attendance. Several of his ribs were broken and he was injured internally, when the auto, running 50 miles an hour, tumbled down an embankment and landed against a telegraph pole. About noon when it was reported that no physician had attended him the Post-Dispatch sent one to him.

Burton's pet collie, Jack, remained beside the body of his master for hours after the accident, refusing to let anyone approach it. It was several hours after the accident before the body was taken from under the machine. Then it was left on the grass near by. When the Coroner's jury reached the scene it was necessary to use force to drag the dog away, and the faithful animal tried time and again to get away and return to his vigil.

After Mrs. Burton's testimony the body of her husband was taken to an undertaking establishment in St. Louis and she returned to her home.

With Burton in the big 2500-pound car when he was killed were his wife and three children, two young women friends and two other men. Street was the only other person hurt. Howard Washington, who was driving the machine, is under arrest at Clayton.

Burton was coachman for Selwyn C. Edgar of 4379 Lindell boulevard. He took the machine from the stable in the absence of the Edgar family, now in Chicago. His wife says he was told to use the machine when he wished.

Thursday evening Burton proposed to John Sweet, hostler, and Howard Washington, chauffeur for the Edgars, that they take a spin in the automobile when it tipped over while running him, and Washington agreed to run the machine. They went to the home of Burton at 4319A Clayton avenue, where they had supper.

Then the ride which led to death was commenced. Mrs. Burton invited as her guests Gussie Frey, 16 years old, of 4317 Clayton avenue, and Clara Patzer of 4308 Clayton avenue.

Nine Persons in Auto.

She took with her, also, the three Burton children—Lulu, aged 7; Alfred, 6, and Edward, 4. These made up the party of nine.

The accident followed a visit to Delmar Garden, where the men of the party drank beer. Leaving the garden Miss Frey and Miss Batzer suggested that they return home, but Burton laughingly said that it was a fine night for a spin, and instructed Chauffeur Washington to run out to Clayton.

After passing through Clayton, the party took the North and South road, running south to the Clayton road, where they turned west.

Washington sat at the right hand side of the machine in the front seat. Next to him, on the left-hand side, sat Burton, holding the dog on his lap.

In the roomy tonneau of the big touring car were the other seven. On the right of the rear seat sat Mrs. Burton. Next to her were Gussie Frey and Clara Patzer and at the left end of the seat was Sweet. The children sat on the floor of the tonneau.

Laughing Over Loss of Hat.

Edward, the 4-year-old boy, was fast asleep and Lulu and Alfred were dozing.

Shortly after leaving Clayton Burton had lost his hat, which was carried from his head by the rush of wind against which they were speeding on the open road. The party was laughing and joking about this trivial mishap.

"How is it that you can always keep your hat on?" said Burton to Washington.

"O, I get one that fits good and tight."

1000 TURKISH INVADERS MEET PERSIAN DEFEAT

LOSS TO THE RAIDERS

Turkish Commander, Zekki Pasha, Ordered to Withdraw His Troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 6.—A Turkish attempt to seize further territory on the Persian frontier has been checkmated by the Governor of Pushkar, who repulsed the invading force of 300 Turkish regulars and 700 mounted Arab regulars, with considerable loss to the raiders.

The Council of Ministers here has now instructed the Turkish commander, Zekki Pasha, to withdraw his troops from their most advanced positions, and to avoid further causes for a rupture with Persia.

MEMBERS FIGHT ON CHANGE FLOOR

Trouble Arises When Milling Man Denounces Elevator Interests.

MAN IS FLOORED TWICE

John Meyer and Frank Goodenough Separated by Floor Chairman.

A rough and tumble fight on the floor of the Merchants' Exchange caused excitement among the members Friday afternoon.

The contestants were Ferdinand P. Meyer, secretary of the John F. Meyer & Sons Milling Co., and Frank Goodenough, superintendent of the Mississippi Valley Elevator.

Th Meyer company has a mill at Springfield, Mo. Recently millers in the southwest part of the State have complained that wheat sent to them by certain elevator pople was unsound.

Denounces Elevator Men.

Meyer was standing near the pit denouncing elevator men in general when Goodenough resented his remarks. Meyr knocked Goodnough down. Goodenough arose and was knocked down a second time.

Then both went at it hammer and tongs and fought for several minutes before they were separated by Edward M. Flesh, chairman of the Floor Committee.

Charges will be preferred against both at the next meeting of the Exchange directors.

Frank Woodlock of Woodlock & Gessling attempted to take Meyer's part, but he was restrained by Flesh and other members.

FAIR WEATHER STILL THE RULE

Moderate Temperature to Continue Saturday.

Just the kind of a day and night to please all the people all the time is what the man who ought to know promises for Friday and Friday evening. The sun will smile and the moon will be bright, but there'll be no tiny messages from the heavens to spoil that new sailor hat or polka-dot costume. The forecast Friday:

"Fair weather and moderate temperature tonight and Saturday; northeast and easterly winds."

The moderate temperature east of the Rockies and on the gulf coast has continued during the past few days, and there have been no kinks in the hot wave on the Pacific Coast. A maximum temperature of over 100 degrees is reported from Southern Arizona, interior California, Eastern Oregon, Idaho and Washington.

JOHN LIONBERGER DAVIS IS ENGAGED

Scion of Wealthy St. Louis Family Will Wed Miss Julie M. Vietor.

WEALTHY NEWYORK GIRL

Wedding Will Take Place in the Fall—Bride Unacquainted Here.

Dispatches from New York announce the engagement of Miss Julie M. Vietor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Vietor, 28 West Fifty-fourth street, New York, and John Lionberger Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Davis, 51 Vandeventer place.

The engagement was the subject of gossip at the Country Club July Fourth, but this is the first announcement made in St. Louis. Mr. Davis and the members of his family are away. The family is at Jamestown, R. I., for the summer. Mr. Davis is expected to return to St. Louis Monday.

Miss Vietor's father is a wealthy wholesale dry goods man, the firm name being Vietor & Achelis. Her mother was a Miss Achelis.

Mr. Davis graduated from Princeton in 1900. Unlike the other members of his family in St. Louis, he takes little active interest in athletics, and has given a great deal of his time to the study of law. His mother was Miss Marion Lionberger.

Miss Vietor has few acquaintances in St. Louis, and has never visited here. She went abroad with her family World's Fair year. The marriage will take place in the autumn.

SAY CONDUCTORS KEPT MONEY BACK

In contesting suits in Justice Spaulding's court instituted by Edgar Pepkin and J. N. Haley, conductors on the Laclede and Market street lines, who alleged that wages and deposits of $5 each were due them, the street railway corporation Friday introduced evidence in the effort to show that the conductors had kept back money from the company, and that nothing was due them.

Haley sued for $40, and Pepkin for $28. There was no question as to the number of hours worked by the men, and it was conceded that each had deposited $5 for his badge.

Joe M. Webster, a special agent for the street railway company, testified that he boarded a Laclede avenue car at 17:05 p. m., May 4, at Broadway. He said that four fares collected were not registered, and that four fares were missed. He rode to Euclid avenue.

J. A. Raske, another special agent, on the same day worked Market street car No. 8553. He said he boarded the car at West End Heights and rode to Grand avenue. In that distance the conductor collected 14 fares that he failed to register, he testified.

The conductors were not questioned as to the collections, and Justice Spaulding took the cases under advisement.

FORMAN WANTS TO HEAR EVERYBODY

Busch Does Not Need to Seek Permission to Testify, He Says.

HAS BLEN SUBPENAED

His Attorneys Also Deny Report That They Will Address Council.

President Forman of the City Council said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that the Special Council Committee appointed to inquire into the passage of the Manufacturers' Railway (Busch line) bill was anxious to hear from any witness knowing anything regarding methods adopted for or against the measure.

"It has been stated," said President Forman, "that counsel for Mr. Busch would appear before the City Council Friday afternoon and ask permission to have Mr. Busch go before the Special Committee and give testimony.

"This is absurd on the face of it. First, Mr. Busch was served with a summons by the sergeant-at-arms of the Council, and I understand that he was the first witness subpoenaed. Secondly, no person not a member of the Council will be permitted on the floor of the Council.

"The committee is anxious to get all the evidence possible, whether for or against the measure. It is the entire facts that the committee wants to bring out."

August A. Busch, when asked if his counsel would appear before the Council and ask that he be permitted to testify, replied in the negative.

"I was served with a subpena several days ago," he said, "and expect to appear before the committee and give my testimony. I did not have to ask permission to testify."

Harry B. Hawes of counsel for Mr. Busch, said that the statement that he was to appear before the Council and ask for anything was unfounded.

"We have nothing to do with the City Council as a whole," he said, "and I cannot see how so absurd a statement could be made. It is probably based on the petition that we made to the committee, in which we asked for permission to summon witnesses and to examine them, and to enlarge the scope of the investigation. We did ask the committee this, and the committee stated that the petition would be referred to the Council at today's meeting."

Dairyman Is Fined $100.

George Bechtele, a dairyman of 1908 Biddle street, was fined $50 in the City Hall Police Court Friday on each of two charges of selling milk of an inferior quality. In assessing the fine Judge O'Hallaron said that he considered the health of the community of too great importance to stay any fines on payment of costs, as is sometimes done on recommendation of the City Chemist.

PRETTY TEACHER'S DEATH UNDER TRAIN A PEORIA MYSTERY

Miss Mary Murphy Calmly Places Herself Face Upward on Rails and Looks Into Trainman's Eyes as Speeding Switch Engine Grinds Her to Pieces.

HEAD SEVERED FROM BODY; MONEY MISSING

Relatives Cannot Explain Her Presence in Factory District, Where Tragedy Occurred — Had Recovered Health Lost Years Ago, Did Not Appear Despondent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., July 6.—After wandering about the factory district of Peoria throughout the afternoon, Miss Mary Murphy, a pretty school teacher, aged 24, calmly placed herself face upward on the Peoria & Pekin Railroad track, her head resting on one rail and her feet on the other, and looked up into the engineer's eyes as a switch engine ground her to death. Her head was severed from the body and rolled several feet from the track.

The tragedy occurred at 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening. At the inquest this morning Patrick Mooney, engineer, and Wesley Abbey, fireman on the switch engine, testified that they saw the young woman place herself carefully in position on the rails, but they were unable to stop the speeding engine in time to save her.

Mrs. Maggie McElroy testified that she was standing half a block away when Miss Murphy laid down on the track. Paralyzed with horror, Mrs. McElroy stood watching the engine approach, witnessed the frantic efforts of the engineer at the throttle, and saw the woman mangled under the wheels.

Miss Murphy left no letters, and the motive is a mystery. Her visit to the factory district is unexplained. It is possible that she was demented, but no testimony to that effect has been brought out. The police found nothing to indicate an unhappy love affair.

Purse Is Missing.

Miss Murphy left her home at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She seemed cheerful and said nothing to lead her relatives to suspect her intention. When her body was found three hours later her purse and umbrella were missing. It is believed she threw them away, as a daylight robbery could hardly occur in that section of the city.

Miss Murphy had been a teacher at the Garfield School for several years. Her father and mother were dead, and she lived with a brother and two sisters at 201 Louisa street.

Three years ago her health failed and she was forced to give up her position at the Garfield School. Last winter, however, she resumed teaching, and appeared to be in excellent health. Her relatives do not believe she feared a return of the old trouble, and are equally positive that she had no love affair.

Miss Murphy is survived by two brothers, Edward, a clerk in a railroad office, and Miles, employed in Pekin, Ill., and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Murphy, a teacher in the Lee School, and Miss Nellie Murphy.

MRS. THAW TOOK NIGHT RIDES IN WHITE'S CAB

Chauffeur Burns, Employed by Slain Architect, Tells of Secret Meetings.

LAST WINTER AND FALL

In Signed Statement Says Mrs. Nesbit Addressed White as "Stannie."

MOTHER MAKES DENIAL

Declares She Did Not Introduce Her Daughter to Thaw's Victim.

NEW YORK, July 6.—That Mrs. Thaw and Stanford White were on friendly terms up to last September is the assertion made in a signed statement given out today by John Burns, who was employed by White as a chauffeur. Burns says that on two occasions, once in February and again in September, 1905, the electric cab which he drove was placed at Mrs. Thaw's disposal by White.

The first of these occasions was before her marriage, the second was five months after it. In each instance, according to the chauffeur, she was taken from a restaurant to her hotel and in neither case did White accompany her.

Burns says that he was engaged by White in the latter part of January, 1905, to drive his electric cab between the hours of 5 p. m. and 3 a. m., and continued in his employ until the latter part of September of that year. The use of the electric machine was discontinued at that time he says, because of the persistent following of the cab by men riding bicycles, on foot, and also hansoms, runabouts and automobiles.

"In those nine months," says Burns, "taking out the time Mr. White was in Europe and Canada, my employer never once entered the electric hansom in company of a woman other than Mrs. White, whom he frequently took to Sherry's for dinner.

"The first time I ever saw the present Mrs. Thaw was in February, between 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning, standing with a company of men and women on the sidewalk in front of Rector's. Mr. Whit escorted her to the machine and put her in, saying to me:

"Take this lady home and then come right back for me."

"Hello, Stannie," She Said.

"Several weeks later I took Mr. White to a restaurant in West Twenty-Sixth street. Hardly had Mr. White reached the sidewalk when a hansom approached from Broadway, pulled up and Miss Nesbit jumped to the sidewalk and approached Mr. White, saying as she held out hr hands, 'Hello, Stannie, how have you been?' Mr. White shook hands. He seemed anxious to get up the stoop. They talked for a few minutes and he bade her good night. Hhe then hurried into the restaurant and she got back into her hansom and was driven off.

"The second time Miss Nesbit rode in Mr. White's cab was in the latter part of September, after his return from Europe. I had gone to Rector's to get him from a dinner. He came out on the sidewalk with three men besides himself and two women, one of whom was Miss Nesbit.

"Take these two women home, Johnnie,' he said to me.

"I never once took Mr. White to his studio in Madison Square tower in the company of a woman, and I never saw a woman enter there."

Mysterious Affidavit.

Ever since Harry Thaw shot Stanford White there have been repeated statements that his real reason was that White aided and directed the then Evelyn Nesbit in making a scurrilous affidavit against him. The Thaws deny the story absolutely.

White's friends said this affidavit was made by Miss Nesbit as the basis of a breach-of-promise suit and that a a consequence Thaw paid a huge sum to Miss Nesbit. Later he married her.

An official in the District Attorney's office who would not permit himself to be quoted told a Post-Dispatch reporter that it is true that an affidavit against Harry Thaw was made and that it was signed with Evelyn Nesbit's name. The official added that the original of the affidavit had been destroyed. Whether it was destroyed before or after Thaw married Miss Nesbit could not be learned today.

The question is, who made this affidavit and for what purpose? Assistant District Attorney Garvan, who has charge of the prosecution against Thaw, discussed this question by appointment with Abe Hummell yesterday. Hummell was counsel for Stanford White at one time. He is now under conviction for suborning perjury in the Morse divorce suit, and other indictments hang over him.

Mr. Hummell said that "silence on the subject has been enjoined on every one connected in any way with his office." He denied ever having been interviewed about the affidavit.

The discussion between Mr. Hummell and Mr. Garvan must have been very interesting, particularly to Mr. Garvan. For, it Evelyn Nesbit, at White's instigation, signed such an affidavit, the paper would be immensely valuable to the prosecution as showing Thaw's motive and how long he had nursed his wrath. But if Evelyn Nesbit did not actually sign the affidavit, the paper would be equally valuable to the defense as proving an attempt to frighten Thaw away from Evelyn Nesbit.

Judge Olcott talked with Thaw for more than an hour in the Tombs, and later called the newspaper reporters, and, for the first time since he was retained as counsel for Thaw, said that he wanted to be quoted to make sure that there would be no mistake.

Thaw Authorized Denial.

"I am authorized by Mr. Thaw," said Judge Olcott, "to announce, as coming from him, that there is nothing, absolutely nothing, in this report that has been circulated that Mrs. Thaw once made an affidavit against her husband. "I have faith enough in the good sense and honor of Mr. Garvan to know that he, too, will say that he has never seen such an affidavit; and more, that such an affidavit has never been offered to him. And what is more, it does not exist. I am glad to hear that Mr. Garvan has announced that he never had said such an affidavit is in existence."

MRS. THAW'S MOTHER MAKES HEATED DENIAL.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 6. — Mrs. Charles J. Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, broke her silence today for the first time since the killing of White, and in a short statement issued to the press, made denial of many stories printed in Pittsburg and New York papers.

Mrs. Holman says:

"I never introduced my daughter to Stanford White. I never took her to theater managers. I accompanied her, as I would not permit her going alone. "I have been maliciously misrepresented. My story will be told at the proper time. I am not in strict seclusion. I have received all friends, but denied all reporters."

ACTRESS BURNED AT REHEARSAL

Miss Drexel's Skirt Is Ignited While on Stage at Delmar.

Miss Cora Drexel, a New York actress, was painfully burned at Delmar Garden Thursday afternoon while attending a rehearsal of "A Runaway Girl." Miss Drexel had gone out to see about an engagement, and was on the stage waiting an opportunity to speak to Stage Manager Stammers when her skirt was seen to be ablaze.

The young woman had stepped in front of a plumber's blowpipe which had been left on the stage, and the hot flames immediately set her silk skirt on fire. The score of chorus girls who were learning a new dance screamed in terror as the fire seemed about to envelope Miss Drexel.

She tried to extinguish the flames with her hands, and Isidor Rodgers, a member of the chorus, went to her assistance. Together they smothered the flames, but not until Miss Drexel was painfully burned. Her skirt was utterly destroyed, and she had to borrow another garment before she could return to her hotel.

The incident broke up the rehearsal and caused much excitement.

JURY COMES SLOW IN HARGIS TRIAL

Fifteen Peremptory Challenges Possessed by Defense Expected to Cause Delay.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BEATTYVILLE, Ky., July 6.—The 15 peremptory challenges which the defense in the Hargis-Callahan trial has under the law—three for each of the five defendants—appears likely to delay proceedings in the trial if the defense leans to dilatory tactics.

Judge Dorsey resumed the work of selecting the jury in the case this morning.

When court adjourned for dinner 12 men had been accepted as a jury by the Commonwealth. It required only 50 talesmen to be examined before the jury box had been filled and so well were they liked by the prosecution that only one peremptory challenge was used.

As the defense has 15 peremptory challenges, it is likely that a number of side.

If the jury is completed this afternoon the present 12 will be excused by that the taking of testimony will begin Saturday morning.

Attorney Charles J. Bronston, who prosecuted Hargis in Lexington for the murder of Jim Cockrill, will be here Saturday morning to assist the Commonwealth.

ONE KILLED IN MIDNIGHT AUTO PLUNGE

The machine was speeding along at 50 miles an hour. The words had scarcely left Washington's lips when the wind lifted his cap from his head and sent it sailing back along the road. Involuntarily Washington looked back without releasing his tight grip on the steering wheel.

The backward motion of the body carried his tensed arm with it, and the wheel turned half way round.

In the fraction of a second the big machine swerved to the right toward the edge of the 20-foot embankment. It skidded and swung around so that when it finally toppled over it was turned exactly the opposite direction to that in which it had been running.

Struck Telegraph Pole.

Toppling to the left the big machine went plunging down the embankment, crashing through a thick growth of sumach and briars. It landed on its side against a telegraph pole at the bottom of the ditch.

Burton and Sweet were pinioned under the machine.

The women and children were all thrown out of the automobile, but beyond being scratched by thorns and slightly bruised they were not injured.

Miss Patzer says that the women of the party pulled Sweet from under the auto. In falling Burton had grabbed Sweet's arms and his death grip was so strong that it was necessary to use a chisel to pry his fingers loose.

The women carried Sweet to a meadow near by. Then Miss Patzer and Miss Frey ran along the road to Clayton screaming for help.

Three men in a buggy came to their assistance, but it was seen that Burton was dead and that there was no way to get him from under the machine.

A few minutes after the accident A. E. Methudy of 806 Wainwright Building came along in his auto with two friends, a man and a woman. They were stopped by Mrs. Burton and her companions, who were in the road screaming.

Mr. Methudy stopped and inquired about the accident and finally took the women and children in his machine and brought them to the city. Two other women whose escorts had gone for assistance were also brought home by Mr. Methudy, who had 11 persons in his auto on the trip back to the city. Mr. Methudy said he did not know that Sweet was injured until two miles from the scene of the accident, and the women were then so hysterical that he could not go back. He remained with Mrs. Burton until 2 a. m. She did not know at that time that her husband was dead.

Another automobile was following Mr. Methudy, and the occupants took Sweet to Busch's Grove, two miles west of the scene of the accident.

Chest Crushed, Ribs Broken.

Sweet was badly hurt. His chest is crushed and three ribs are broken. He is still at Busch's Grove.

When it was learned several hours after the accident that Sweet was still without medical attention, the Post-Dispatch instructed its reporter at Clayton to get a physician and go at once to the aid of the sufferer. Dr. G. C. Eggers of Clayton was the physician obtained.

Coroner Koch of St. Louis County arrived on the scene an hour after the accident. He ordered that Washington be held pending an inquest, and the chauffeur was taken to the Clayton Jail. It was decided to hold an inquest at the scene of the accident.

Deputy Constable Bode was called from his home soon after the accident happened. He remained at the scene all night, doing what he could for the relief of the sufferers, and afterwards aiding in the removal of Burton's body from under the machine.

The description of what happened just before the accident was given to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday by Miss Patzer.

Though she says the machine was going at a high rate of speed she says that she plainly heard the conversation between Burton and Washington about the hat and saw Washington's hand carry the steering wheel around with it when he turned to look for his cap.

Injured Man's Story.

Chauffeur Washington, in the Jail at Clayton, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that the accident was caused by his turning to tell Sweet to watch his hat, which had blown off.

"I was responsible for taking the machine out," he said. "I have frequently taken the servants out for a ride, and have never been reprimanded by Mr. Edgar, who knew about it. I suggested the ride some time ago, and Burton seemed delighted at the idea.

"I do not know how fast we were going when the accident occurred, but we were going at a pretty good clip."

John Sweet, the hostler, was seen at Busch's Grove, near Clayton.

"We left Mr. Edgar's residence about 5:45 o'clock last evening," said Sweet. "I am the hostler there and have nothing to do with the automobile. Burton has charge of the stables, and he invited me to go with the party on the trip.

"George Washington was the chauffeur, and he was asked by Burton also. When we left the Edgar residence there was only Burton, myself and the chauffeur in the machine. We first went direct to Burton's residence, at 4319A Clayton road. Here we had dinner, and after dinner, about 7:45 o'clock, we left and went to Delmar Garden.

"Burton's family got in the automobile. There was Mrs. Burton and three children. Besides this, there were two young ladies.

"We first stopped at Delmar Garden and had several bottles of beer, the ladies drinking soda. We were not at the garden a great while, and then started out for a drive through the county.

"We did not speed much, and kept on until after midnight, when we were on the Clayton road south of the North and South road, about two and a half miles southwest of Clayton. We were speeding then. We intended going down the road a distance and then to turn around and go back to the city.

"We were going at about 45 or 50 miles an hour. The road is an embankment there, about 18 or 20 feet high, and very smooth. Burton was on the front seat beside the driver. The three children, Mrs. Burton and the young ladies were on the back seat. The children and I were in the middle seat.

"Suddenly I felt the machine veer, and then I realized that we were falling. The next thing I knew I was picked up and had been unconscious.

"I do not know whether Burton had permission to take the machine out or not. I did not ask him. He was in charge of the place, and I supposed it was all right."

MRS. KATE HAVLIN DIES.

Frank R. Tate of the Columbia Theater Friday received a telegram announcing the sudden death at her summer home in Rockaway Park, Long Island, N. Y., of Mrs. Kate Havlin, wife of John H. Havlin of St. Louis and Cincinnati theatrical interests.

Mr. Tate saw Mrs. Havlin three weeks ago, when she apparently was in good health. The body will be taken Friday evening to Cincinnati for burial. Mrs. Havlin was a native of Newport, Ky., and her maiden name was Jones. One daughter, Katherine, survives, besides the husband.

RECOUNT TO BE FINISHED SEPT. 1

Speed Quadrupled Since July 2 by New System and Double Force.

SEVEN PRECINCTS DAILY

Opinion That Court Action Will Take Up Time Before Terms Expire.

The speed with which the recount of the last municipal election ballots is progressing has been quadrupled since July 2, when the Board of Election Commissioners not only doubled the working clerical force, but also inaugurated a new system which again doubles the rapidity with which the votes may be tallied.

The board now expects to have the recount completed by Sept. 1 at the latest and possibly will conclude its labors by Aug. 15. Since the innovation in the system was made three days ago, the clerks have recounted 21 precincts, and at 10 a. m. Friday they had finished three precincts of the Eleventh Ward.

This is an average of seven precincts daily, and were it not that trouble and delay is anticipated in the Sixteenth Ward, the commissioners believe they could close the books by the middle of next month.

However, even though the recount may be completed next month, it is the general opinion of many politicians that if the accurate returns are such as to disqualify office holders from retaining their positions, the actions which will follow in the courts will cover such a long period that the terms of all the incumbents will have expired and they will have served their full time before decisions are rendered.

On explanation of the reason why the recount consumes so much time was made at the Board of Election Commissioners Friday.

Two Squads of Clerks.

Two squads of four clerks each—two Democrats and two Republicans—work in separate apartments. Two of each squad remove the ballot boxes from the vaults, the other two taking out the poll books. The ballot-box men are not permitted to see the poll books and vice versa. This preserves the secrecy of the ballot, for while the voter's name is signed to the poll book it does not appear on the ballot.

On the face of the ballot is the name of the candidate, a number which must or should correspond with the number opposite the voter's name in the poll book and the initials of the judges, Democratic and Republican.

It often occurs that there will be, for instance, a half dozen numbers 11 and number 12 will be missing entirely. There has been a mistake made somewhere and the watchers for both contestants and contestees are permitted to examine the ballots, under the supervision of the Election Commissioners.

These duplications are recorded and every ballot is given an elaborate examination. The records are kept on a big sheet, which is headed with 29 classifications. For example, there may be a ballot that bears the initials of one judge only; there may be others on which the scratching on more than one appears to have been done by the same man; in fact, all the possible irregularities are called out and placed on this sheet under the various classifications.

These difficulties hamper the work of recounting and account for the slowness with which it proceeds. Each ballot was so handled until July 2, when the board evolved a new system and put it into execution.

Four Squads Now Working.

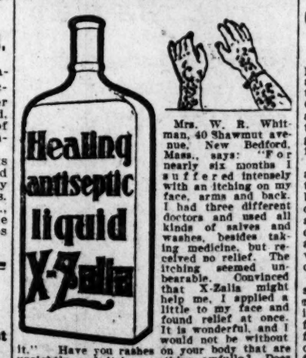
Four squads, 16 men, were put to work in separate apartments. All the ballots are now removed from the boxes and arranged rapidly on tables under the various classifications, and then when all are properly separated, instead of calling out each ballot as "Regular, Wells, one," the clerks take a batch, count them quickly and call out the total number to be recorded under each classification.

The speed is greatly accelerated in this manner, for the errors can be promptly checked up. With the extra clerical force and the new system the speed has actually been quadrupled.

After the recount the judges will be required to pass upon the ballots in error and after this has been done the matter will be taken into the courts, all of which is expected to require possibly a year or more before final settlement of the contests is made.

The recount was begun April 9, and it was announced at that time that it scarcely could be concluded within a year, but the board has changed its opinion and believes that with all the trouble and disputes that may arise from now on the work will be over by Sept. 1.

Prickly Heat Humors Hives Brown Tail



Mrs. W. R. Whitman, 40 Shawmut avenue, New Bedford, Mass., says: "For nearly six months I suffered intensely with an itching on my face, arms and back. I had three different doctors and used all kinds of salves and washes, besides taking medicine, but received no relief. The itching seemed unbearable. Convinced that X-Zalia might help me, I applied a little to my face and found relief at once. It is wonderful, and I would not be without it." Have you rashes on your body that are unsightly and itch something awfully? Does a rash appear when you become heated? Do you want to scratch, scratch, scratch all the time? You have a form of skin eruption—but no matter whether it is prickly heat, hives or humor, you can get immediate relief from the itching by wetting the sore places with that liquid X-Zalia. It is so soothing, cooling and healing it's a delight to use. And the way it heals all flesh eruptions is a wonder. No matter how many remedies you have tried without success, we know you can get quick relief from this healing liquid.

X-Zalia

Heals any sore (pimples to eczema), cures scalp itching, stops instantly the itching and irritation by brown tail poisoning, takes the fire out of a burn, stops the pain and heals cuts and refreshes tired, swollen feet. X-Zalia draws the inflammation out as if it was a plaster, and all you do is to simply keep the sore place wet with it. Different and more effective than anything else. Large bottle 50c, any druggist. Free booklet, "Curing Flesh Sores." X-Zalia Corp'n, Dept. C, 8551 Batterymarch street, Boston.

AMERICAN GIRLS LOVE ENGLISH TITLES, NOT ENGLISHMEN

Lord Harmsworth Learns the Truth Following His Assertion That Yankee Women Prefer British Husbands Because They Make Love After Marriage.

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Alfred Harmsworth, Lord Northcliffe, declares that the American woman prefers the English husband; that her choice of an American nowadays is so rare as to be a cause for national rejoicing, and that the reasons of her choice are briefly that the Englishman does not rush her before marriage and does make love to her afterward. Furthermore, he offers to give statistics to prove his contention.

Lord Northcliffe's peerage must have gone to his head. Not in many years has such a series of colossal errors found their way into print. Indeed, the errors fairly sandbag one, and it is several moments before one recovers sufficiently to realize:

That the American girl does not like the Englishman.

That she never marries him except for his title.

That there are not on record ten cases of Anglo-American alliances that did not have their inception in the affinity of dollars for titles.

That when she consults her inclination, and not her ambition, she never marries outside the United States.

English Can't "Rush a Girl."

And the reason for her preference lies in one of Lord Northcliffe's statements that the Englishman does not "rush" his courtship. Emotionally the Englishman is a ruminant. He considers the most sentimental crisis of life with the placid leisure of his own Durham cattle. He makes up his mind that perhaps it will be entirely proper to make love to a girl about ten years after she has quit wondering why he didn't.

He is indeed so persistently, conscientiously "slow" that the American girl, once used to the American man, is apt to wonder if nature did not stir a liberal handful of flour in his veins in the mistaken idea that she was thickening soup.

To talk of his "rushing" the American woman is about as sane as the conception of a hippotamus pursuing an antelope.

Lord Northcliffe tries to make a virtue of his countryman's ponderousness, which is natural enough. But the very quality he advances as commending him to us is what makes him impossible as a lover.

The American woman has to be "won driving," and she prefers the race to be a steeplechase. The American man knows this so well that his victory is a case of "Eclipse first and the rest nowhere."

The Englishman does not lavish flowers on a girl during courtship because he has not "father's dollars" to do it with. With the millions "father" worked for to pay his debts and regild his coronet it is no very great credit to him that he spares half a crown occasionally to buy his wife a bouquet. And even then he buys cowslips, as Lord Northcliffe says. American beauties come too high.

Englishmen like American women undoubtedly just about as they do chutney and other Indian relishes that put zest in their appetites as we do in their lives.

Think Woman Inferior.

But our normal feeling toward them is one of amused toleration more or less tempered by tenderness, if we happen to be married to them.

The idea of essential inferiority of woman flows in the Englishman's blood, is tattooed on his brain, graven in his heart. It shows in his most chivalrous, his most gallant speech. And for that reason, if for no other, the American woman fails to understand him.

The Englishman absorbs his wife, mentally and temperamentally swallows her alive. The most touching tale of wifely devotion an Englishman knows is that Mrs. Gladstone allowed her hand to be crushed in a carriage door rather than disturb her husband when he was on his way to the Commons to make a speech.

Now, that's a perfectly possible story of an Englishman. But an American could no more sit in the same carriage with a woman he loved and not know she was suffering than she could ignore it herself.

But it completely embodies the British idea of conjugal devotion.

Englishmen make good husbands when we are looking for someone to spend our money. Americans find it possible only to spend their own. It may be a fault, but we like them for it—better any other men in the world, Lord Northcliffe.

LEAPS TO DEATH AT DOCTOR'S FEET

Patient Plunges From Hospital Window as Superintendent Stands Below.

STRAPS JUST TAKEN OFF

Was Allowed to Sit by Window When Delirium Seemed Over.

Five minutes after he had been released from his cot, to which he had been bound while delirious, P. J. Finigan of 1125½ Chestnut street threw himself backwards from a window on the fourth floor of the City Hospital at 2 p. m. Thursday. He fell dead almost at the feet of Dr. John Young Brown, superintendent of the hospital.

The man's neck was broken by the fall and he died in the reception ward 15 minutes after he was picked up.

Finigan was taken to the City Hospital Monday, suffering from a complication of diseases. He was taken to the medical division known as B 40. He became delirious Wednesday night and was strapped to his cot.

Thursday he was rational all day and toward evening Miss Frances Sargeant, the nurse in charge of the ward, allowed the straps to be removed. Finigan obtained permission to sit beside one of the windows.

Five minutes later, without saying anything to those about him, the patient climbed a few feet and threw himself backward from the window. Dr. Brown was watching some of the younger physicians play ball on the hospital grounds at the time and a few minutes before had been standing just where the body struck.

Dr. Brown said Friday that Finigan was suffering from a cerebral trouble, and was put in the ward because he could be better treated there than in the insane division. He said Finigan was not regarded as wholly demented, but that persons having Finigan's ailment might suffer sudden attacks of insanity.

PEPER CASE TRANSFER.

Only One Defendant Asks for Change of Venue.

The trial of the case of Charles Peper and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas M. Bell against Frederick Peper, executor of the estate of the late Christian Peper, Christian J. Cornelius, known as Peper, and Mrs. Caroline J. Peper, was further postponed when Judge McDonald granted a change of venue to the defendants.

Though the change of venue was asked by Mrs. Caroline Peper, one of the defendants, it was strongly opposed by Judge Klein, the attorney for the other defendants. He contended that, although Mrs. Peper was nominally a defendant, she was actually a plaintiff, and as the plaintiffs had one change of venue, they were not entitled to another.

Judge McDonald ruled that, under the statute, he had no discretion in the matter, and, as the affidavit filed asking for the change purported to come from a party defendant, he would be forced to sustain the motion for a change of venue. The case was transferred to Judge Sale's court and will come up for hearing at the fall term.

FIGHT PROMOTER'S FINES PILING UP

Barney Williams Has Also Lost His Job as Deputy Sheriff.

CROWD WAS INDIGNANT

Negro Pugilist Took the Count Just as Spectators Expected Fun.

Former Deputy Sheriff Barney Williams pleaded guilty in the County Court at Belleville Friday, and was fined $50 and costs for promoting a sparring match at his saloon at Fireworks Station, near East St. Louis, two weeks ago. The costs will amount to $80. Williams was also fined for keeping a disorderly house, the fine and costs amounting to $27.75.

Williams waived preliminary hearing before Justice Wangelin of Belleville Tuesday on the charge of promoting a prize fight, and gave bond for his appearance before the grand jury.

The Illinois statutes provide a maximum fine of $1000 or imprisonment in the Penitentiary from 1 to 5 years for promoting a prize fight, while the maximum fine is $500, or 1 to 6 months in the County Jail, for promoting a sparring match.

The bout Williams is alleged to have promoted lasted just one round, when one of the negro pugilists knocked the other out. Williams has since been deprived of his commission as deputy sheriff.

The "go" was attended by a number of St. Louis and East St. Louis adherents of pugilism, who were very indignant when the count was taken in the first round.

HURT ON WAY TO JOB.

Max Lehiman of 1130 Biddle street, who came from Russia four weeks ago, was on a southbound Broadway car Friday with Sam Lichenstein of 1026 High street, who was taking him to a tailor shop on South Broadway, where he had found work through the United Hebrew Charities. Lichenstein signaled the conductor to stop. Lehiman did not see his guide get off the car till it had started, when he jumped and fell, fracturing his skull and bruising his nose and face and his right leg.

He was taken to the South Side Dispensary, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Vogel, and was sent to the City Hospital.

SUING STATE TREASURER.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 6.—The examination of witnesses in a suit against T. Kelley, State Treasurer, to recover an alleged shortage of $10,000 in his office, was begun here yesterday by Attorney-General Coleman.

A supposed shortage of $77,000 in three State treasurers' accounts running through two administrations was discovered several months ago, and made public by Gov. Hoch.

Treasurer Kelley, it is alleged, failed to account for certain interest bearing warrants supposed to have come into his possession.

FIVE NEARLY DROWN.

Crew Narrowly Escapes When Steamer Springs Leak.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEWES, Del., July 6.—Five men barely escaped with their lives here last night on the wrecking steamer Somerset, owned by the National Wrecking Co. of Fall River, Mass., and engaged in the work of raising the sunken tugboat Sparten, which lies on the bottom of the bay. A gale was blowing at the time and the Somerset, which is an old boat, sprang a leak.

Her crew of nine men were asleep in their bunks and knew nothing of their peril until awakened by the water rushing in upon them. They jumped for their small boat and in doing so five of the crew were nearly drowned.

Cooper's Medicines in Great Demand.

The remarkable demand for the New Discovery medicines with which L. T. Cooper has been having such wonderful success in the cure of Stomach and Kidney troubles, Catarrh, Rheumatism and other diseases seems to increase every day. His visit in New Orleans for the past few weeks has created a sensation in the South, the like of which has never been known.

His remedies are well known in this section of the country, and the famous cures which they have effected in St. Louis, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and other large cities of the central western states are well remembered. The retail druggists say they have never known any medicines for which there was such a constant demand and the continued reports of marvelous cures that are being published everywhere are a topic of universal interest.

The newspapers of New Orleans are still printing interviews with those whose cases are most extraordinary and as this, the last week of Cooper's visit draws to a close, the excitement seems to have increased rather than abated.

One case in particular that has attracted special attention during the past few days is that of Mr. Leon Labusquirre, 1014 Burgundy New Orleans, who had been sick for fifteen years and had doctored for various diseases without result. There was a bright twinkle in the man's eye and a radiant smile on his face as he greeted his interviewer the other day, which seemed to bespeak anything but poor health. "I shall be pleased to state my experience," he said, in answer to a request, "for my case has been a most remarkable one, and I am glad of the opportunity to tell the public what these wonderful medicines have done for me. My suffering for the past fifteen years has been more than I can describe, for during all that time I have seldom had a well day. My appetite was very irregular. Sometimes I could not get enough to eat and at other times the very sight of food would make me sick. I suffered greatly from constipation. I did not seem to get any strength from what I ate, was always tired, and the slightest exertion would wear me out completely. It was a great effort for me to attend to my duties. I was very nervous and at night I could not rest well. I would wake up in the morning feeling as tired as when I went to bed. There were few days that I did not have a dreadful headache and at times would have queer dizzy spells. I thought for a time that I had Catarrh and doctored for it, but without relief. Nothing I could do seemed to benefit me, and when I began to hear of the wonderful success Cooper was having with his medicines in the treatment of cases similar to mine, I began using his medicines.

After I had taken his New Discovery medicine only a few days a horrible tapeworm of enormous size passed from my system and then I knew what had been causing me all this trouble. From that time I improved rapidly and now feel well and strong again. I will gladly give any information I can to any one who is suffering as I was."

The sale of Cooper's medicine in St. Louis has been phenomenal and at Wolff-Wilson's Drug Store, where the remedies are sold in this city, it is said that some very remarkable cures have been reported right here at home.

HAVE A BOMB FACTORY

Seattle Police Find Plant for Making Bombs and Infernal Machines.

ALTONA, Prussia, July 6.—An alleged anarchist named August Rosenberg, who left Seattle, Wash., for Germany recently, was arrested here yesterday as he stepped from the train on his arrival.

He is accused of having designs on the life of Emperor William of German.

ROSENBERG'S HOME A BOMB FACTORY.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 6.—On July 3 the police of this city, acting at the instance of the German Government, raided the house formerly occupied by August Rosenberg, a bricklayer, and found a plant for making bombs and infernal machines.

Rosenberg left Seattle for Hamburg, Germany, May 1. At that time the German Government received a warning from Seattle that an attempt would be made to assassinate the German Emperor.

The German Consul at Seattle subsequently received a cablegram from Hamburg instructing him to investigate. The articles seized included more than 200 bottles of acids and explosives, crucibles, mortars, molds, a furnace and considerable scrap iron.

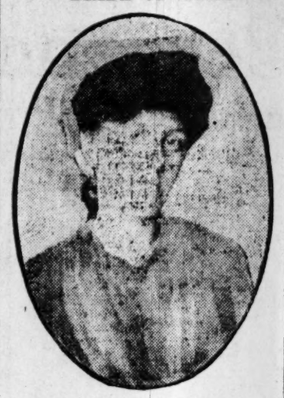
MAULL BROTHERS. ST. LOUIS, MO.

GIRL WHO BECOMES BRIDE OF ATHLETE.



MRS. WILLIAM R. DONDAS.

ATHLETE MISSES GAME, WINS BRIDE

William Dondas and Irene Sullivan Hurdled Parental Objection.

LONG QUEST FOR PRIEST

Archbishop's Dispensation Was Needed Before Ceremony Could Be Performed.

William R. Dondas, chief clerk in the St. Louis Fire Prevention Bureau, sprinter and winner of prizes in a number of races, failed to take part in the Scottish Clans races at Normandy Grove, for which he was entered, but won a prize, more valuable to him than a loving cup, in a race paced by Dan Cupid. The prize is pretty Irene Sullivan of 2925 Dayton street, whom he married Wednesday, after a day spent in obtaining a license and finding a priest.

Dondas was entered in the 100 and 200-yard dashes at the Scottish Clans meet at Normandy Grove Wednesday. As he left home in the morning friends and relatives crowded about him and told him their hopes that he would win the first prize and beat 'em all.

"Oh, he'll do it all right," responded the young man's mother, knowing her son's intentions to be married.

Dondas smiled at his well-wishers, and said he would try hard enough for the prize he was after, but there was a trace of doubt in his voice, for there were parental objections to be overcome at the bride's home.

At the bride's home there was objection, indeed, and the young couple, being unable to remove it, hurdled it and started to the License Clerk's office at the City Hall.

City Hall Was Deserted.

The office was closed for the holiday. This obstruction was hurdled and the two went to East St. Louis, where a license was procured.

They wished to be married by Rev. Father Tracy of the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel. Eleventh and Destrehan streets, but were told on arriving there that a license issued in Illinois was without authority in Missouri.

Another hurdle was cleared as they started for East St. Louis to have the ceremony performed by Rev. Father Gilmartin of the Sacred Heart Church of that city. Father Gilmartin also had an obstruction ready. He refused to marry them without the consent of their parish priest, Father Fenion of St. Bridget's Church.

Dondas called Father Fenion over the telephone and asked his consent, but Father Fenion wanted to know why the bans had not been published.

He seemed to be provoked at the young couple's neglect and they began to fear that they would never be married. Finally Father Fenion consented to the wedding and interceded with Archbishop Glennon for a special dispensation, which was in due time granted. Then they were married.

Mrs. Dondas is the daughter of James Sullivan, a member of the Fire Department for 22 years. She is assistant to Dondas in the Fire Prevention Bureau. She and her husband were childhood sweethearts and he obtained the position for Miss Sullivan in his office when she graduated from school three years ago.

WIRE-TAPPERS GET $200,000 ON TWO RACES

Clean Up in Gotham, Chicago, Rochester, Louisville and Other Cities.

BIG POOLROOMS ESCAPE

"Confirmation" Came Too Promptly—Used Wireless on Lake Michigan.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A wire-tapping "killing," which netted about $200,000, and took anywhere from $25,000 to $50,000 out of local poolrooms, was worked yesterday afternoon.

Reports come from Chicago, Rochester, Buffalo, Fort Erie, Albany and Schenectady that poolrooms in those cities had been hard hit. Louisville poolroom keepers estimated that their loss was $2000.

Beau Brummel, a 6-to-1 choice, was sent through as the winner of the second race at Windsor, instead of Attention, the 3-to-5 favorite. This result was apparently correct, and the smaller poolrooms in this city paid off promptly. In the bigger places, where things are watched more closely, suspicion was aroused as to the genuineness of the report because confirmation of it was "flashed" over the wire within three minutes after its receipt.

As a general rule confirmation of a race is not received until after the posting of the betting of the succeeding race. In these places bettors were told that wagers would not be paid until after the day's races were over, or until today.

The wire-tappers evidently received word that the Beau Brummel "tapping" had gone through successfully, for in the third race they tried it again. Attilla, at 5 to 1, was "flashed" as the winner, with Scalpbook, 5 to 1, second, and Crowshade, 4 to 1, third. It was immediately after the race was reported in that form that Attention was announced as the real winner of the second race and Beau Brummel the placed horse. On the heels of this, Crowshade was confirmed as the winner of the third race, with Attilla second.

There were three more races on the Windsor card after this, but in all the poolrooms it was announced that no bets would be settled on them until today. The explanation was "the wires are to the bad."

According to racetrack followers, "the poolrooms of New York would have lost upward of $100,000 had the wire-tappers not been too anxious to "clean up."

TAPPERS CLEAN UP $2000 AT CHICAGO.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Wire tappers caused a financial muss on the City of Traverse. The Traverse receives its reports of races by wireless while stationed 25 miles from shore. The Windsor race wire was tapped at some point, said to be near Cincinnati, and the second horses were sent in as winners in the second and third races. The White and Perry books paid off on Beau Brummel and Attilla and later were forced to settle on Attention and Crowshade. The men who were paid through the mistake were compelled to give up the money. They were nearly all regulars. There was no escape from the boat and the books. It is said that about $2000 got away.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 6.—Wire tappers got the money here by substituting the names of place horses for winners in the second and third races at Windsor, Ontario. Accomplices of the wire tappers, strangers here, cashed before the deception was discovered. One was chased over the steeplechase course and took the jumps cleanly. When last seen he was headed for Cincinnati.

BOTTLING PURE MILK FOR TENEMENT BABIES

This is a photograph of a section of the Pure Milk Commission's laboratory. The milk is in the big tanks. It has been sterilized and modified scientifically. The bottles are filled directly from the taps, automatically, and it is thus kept absolutely free from all possible contamination.

TORTURED BABY GIVES UP FIGHT AGAINST POISON

Pure Milk Would Have Saved This Little Fellow, but His Vitality Had Been Sapped by a Long Course of Vile Food.

A picture of Baby Shepherd was taken before his death last week at 4547 North Broadway. The picture depicts a more emaciated baby than any of the famine victims in India. The picture is too grewsome to print.

This baby's life could have been saved. Even though it was a living skeleton there was a chance. Pure, sterilized milk, kept cool and sweet, might have saved its life.

It is just such cases the Post-Dispatch wishes to reach. No one wants such horrors to persist. The Post-Dispatch wants to collect the money that will buy the pure milk necessary to nourish such infants.

Baby Shepherd had taken the milk only a week. No true test of the beneficial qualities of the milk could be made in that time. Even then the baby had some chance of living had not a particularly hot wave carried away his last spark of vitality.

Dr. Henckler of the North Side Dispensary, who furnished the milk to the baby's foster mother, said: "The child looked like a skeleton. I never saw anything so awful in my practice. I realized it was an extreme case and photographed the child. Bad as it was, it had a chance to live. I believe he was improving on the milk until the hot wave of last Friday sapped the infant's vitality and he simply died."

Baby Shepherd's mother may not know at the present time of her baby's death. She disappeared from home May 24. Mrs. Shepherd was injured in a street car accident some time ago and her mind has been unsound ever since, her mother believes. Mrs. Hearn was not well supplied with this world's goods and did not have healthful food for the baby. It became very ill and when finally the pure milk was recommended it was too late.

The milk comes from the Pure Milk Commission. The ice to keep it cool is distributed by the King's Daughters. Some mothers can pay a penny a bottle for the milk. Others cannot pay even that price. The penny only pays for the actual cost of the milk. The sterilizing and modifying process and icing at the plant cost money. The wages of men and rent must be paid. These expenses must be borne by the charitable. And when the milk is given away, there is a greater expense—another cent a bottle—that must be met.

A cent a bottle isn't much. No, but it amounts to thousands of dollars before the summer is over. Seven to ten bottles a day for a baby through a hot summer, and frequently through the winter, means dollars.

Will you help defray the expenses of this indispensable charity? Will you help to buy the necessary ice?

You, who do not mind carfare; you, who have ice cream or cooling drinks whenever you crave them, think of the misery and deprivations of the children, and the mothers, too, of the tenements. Think what a 12½-pound piece of ice means to a tenement dweller! Think what a relief it is to a mother to know her child can have health! It means happiness to her.

The tenements seem to have been built for the most part to keep in the heat and all the foul smells of the building. They exclude in most instances pure air. The heat in them is intense. No place, without spending money, is there any relief.

Babies living under these conditions cannot thrive on the sickening, cheap condensed milk—milk in name only. They cannot live on a formaldehyde-chalk-water solution, even if it is doled out in gills and called milk. Formaldehyde is poison. That in the milk will kill if you give it time. It may not be as quick acting as a rapid-fire gatling gun. It is just as sure death-dealing, only a little slower.

Strange these youngsters don't thrive on poison. They won't, though. That's why real milk, milk prepared scientifically, is needed.

The babies need the milk. The fund needs the money. If you are modest about seeing your name in the list of acknowledged contributions send your initials.

Be modest if you will, but don't be shy.

PLAN NAVAL SHOW AT OYSTER BAY

President May Review Biggest Gathering of American Warships.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Practically all naval vessels of the Atlantic Fleet may rendezvous off Oyster Bay late in September and be reviewed by President Roosevelt.

Secretary Bonaparte said today that it had not yet been decided to have a review, but that the question may be considered later. If it is decided to have a review, the largest number of American warships ever assembled at one time will anchor off Oyster Bay. The fleet will consist of about 18 first-class battleships, all in the navy except the Ohio, Wisconsin and one or two others of the Asiatic squadron, and several cruisers and torpedo boat destroyers.

If the review takes place it will be while the vessels are on their way south to engage in winter target practice.

South Dakota and Nebraska—Fair Friday night and Saturday.

Arkansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Friday night and Saturday, partly cloudy.

Texas—Friday night and Saturday, partly cloudy; probably scattered showers; light to fresh easterly winds on the coast.

RICH MAN A PRISONER IN SANITARIUM?

Relatives of Retired Merchant, Missing Six Years, Hint at Expose.

NIECE IS INVESTIGATING

Said to Have Quarreled With Son-in-Law Before He Disappeared.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 6.—When Moses J. Van Name, a wealthy retired merchant of Port Richmond, Staten Island, suddenly dropped from sight and the knowledge of his relatives more than six years ago, there were many rumors of certain causes which might have led to his disappearance.

For months a vigorous search for the old man was maintained. Of all his near relatives, none were more energetic than his son-in-law, William T. Sloane, with whom he had made his home. When all else had failed, Mr. Sloane offered a reward for the recovery of his body.

Mrs. Sloane, his daughter, never relinquished her conviction that he was alive. She clung to this idea, but the constant worry undermined her health, and about two years ago she died.

John P. Van Name, a brother of the missing man, yesterday said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that his brother had been found in a sanitarium at Amityville, Long Island, where he had been placed under an assumed name. The news was brought to John Van Name by Peter Van Name, a cousin, who lives in Brooklyn. John Van Name is 81 years old, and unable by himself to make the journey to Amityville. One of the nieces of Moses Van Name will go to the sanitarium today, and if she finds her uncle will take immediate steps for his release and his return to his relatives on Staten Island.

Unhappy in Home.

The Staten Island relatives of the old man are confident that if he is mentally capable of describing what happened at the time of his disappearance an amazing sensation will be the result. One of his relatives said that the old man had been in four different sanitariums in the last six years, having been moved about by interested parties.

The missing man, if alive, is 87 years old.

At the time of his disappearance Moses Van Name was executor of several estates in Port Richmond and Mariner's Harbor.

COSSACKS AND MOB BATTLE AT VLADIVOSTOK

Japanese Steamship Colonia Brings Refugees and Reports Heavy Fighting.

RIOTERS USING CANNON

Mutinous Soldiers Assist Civilians in Uprising and Many Are Killed.

TOKIO, July 6.—Fighting between Cossacks and a riotous mob, made up in part of mutinous soldiers, is in progress at Vladivostok, according to reports brought by the steamship Colonia of the East Asiatic Steamship Co., which arrived at Nagasaki from that Russian naval seat yesterday.

The Colonia brought a large number of refugees who had come on board just before the ship sailed last Sunday. The fighting on the streets was bloody and numbers were killed by the Cossacks in an effort to disperse the rioters.

Just before the Colonia sailed the rioters had captured a battery of artillery and were using it in the defense of a barricade against the Cossacks.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

SICK ALL THE TIME

UNTIL SHE TOOK DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Then She Ceased to Be an Invalid and Has Been a Well Woman Ever Since.

"I suffered all the time, practically, from sickness of the stomach, dizziness or swimming in my head and pain in my back. Now I am entirely free from discomfort of that sort. I am not only able to keep on my feet, but to do my work as a teacher, and to enjoy the pleasures that come through the possession of good health."

That is the statement of Mrs. B. B. Ford, of Pushmataha, Miss., who continues as follows: "I am glad to tell others that my troubles were all remedied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are indeed a woman's friend. I heard of them first from an acquaintance in Arkansas who had found out their merits by actual use. What she said prompted me to try them in September of 1904, and within three weeks I experienced such relief that I knew that they must be adapted to the needs of my case. After using them for a short while longer I was thoroughly convinced of their helpfulness. I ceased to be an invalid, I became and have since remained a well woman, and the reason why is simply that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The pills which Mrs. Ford so justly praises cure the chief ailments of women by thoroughly renovating the blood. They banish headaches, languor, nervousness, create appetite, promote digestion, put color in the complexion, build up strength and in a word enable women to reach and maintain full physical perfection.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood and give strength and tone to every part of the body. In this way they have cured serious disorders of the blood and nerves, such as rheumatism, sciatica, anemia, nervousness, headaches, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance and many forms of weakness in either sex.

Every woman should send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a valuable booklet, entitled "Plain Talks to Women." It will be mailed free in sealed envelope to the address of any applicant. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

POSTOFFICE TO BE SUB-STATION

Most of Business Will Be Handled in Proposed New Structure.

TO OCCUPY ONE BLOCK

Nearness to Union Station Will Facilitate Handling of Mails.

When the proposed new St. Louis Postoffice, occupying the block bounded by Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, Market street and Clark avenue, is a reality, the present Postoffice in the Federal building will become a substation, the great bulk of mail business being handled in the new quarters. In the absence of Postmaster Frank Wyman, his brother, Assistant Postmaster Henry Wyman, said Thursday:

"The new Postoffice will stand just across the street from the Union Station and, therefore, the business of handling the St. Louis mails most expeditiously will be greatly facilitated. The plans for the new building contemplate a two-story structure along the most modern lines. I think it will require about two years for completion, after the work is once started.

"The main offices, such as those of the Postmaster, the Assistant Postmaster and department heads, will be on the first floor of the new building. From the date of its occupancy, the present Postoffice will then become a substation, similar to those already established in various parts of the city.

"Money order business can be transacted there, but, naturally, the great bulk of local business will be handled at the new Postoffice. The old quarters here in the Federal building will be cut down as much as possible, and the space thus vacated will be occupied by other Government departments."

"STAR BOARDER" PREVENTS DIVORCE

Decree Denied to Mrs. Ida Burrus, Who Complained of Title.

By denying a divorce to Mrs. Ida H. Burrus of 1908 North Grand avenue from Leon A. Burrus, Judge Douglas has inflicted a severe blow to the star boarder. He refuses the divorce because Mrs. Burrus persisted in keeping in her employ a man who was distasteful to her husband, he said, and showing him such preference in the matter of the preparation of meals that her husband felt justified in calling him the star boarder.

Mrs. Burrus complained in her petition that Burrus characterized the hired help as a star boarder. Burrus came back with a cross-bill, in which he not only admitted this, but said he had a right to allude to W. H. Spedding as a star boarder because of the way Mrs. Burrus treated him.

Mrs. Burrus also complained that Mr. Burrus criticised her for "chinning" the drummers who came to her bakery.

In dismissing the bill of Mrs. Burrus and the cross bill of Mr. Burrus, Judge Douglas said:

"Disagreement between the couple grew mostly from the retention by the plaintiff of an employe to whom the husband objected. The wife has, by the legislation of the last 30 years, acquired most of the privilege of a femme sole, but the right to keep a person in her employe in a confidential service in disregard of the husband's objections has not been conferred upon her. Such conduct, when connected with the alleged grounds of divorce, is sufficient to prevent the plaintiff from being the innocent and injured party mentioned in the statutes."

THEY MAGNIFIED THEIR TROUBLES

Judge Denies Divorce to Wife of Prominent Labor Union Man.

Mrs. Stella V. Wilson of 6039 Maple avenue was denied a divorce from John T. Wilson of 3900 Page boulevard, president of the International Association of Maintenance of Way Employes, in a decision handed down by Judge Douglas.

When the case was tried three weeks ago there was testimony that Mr. Wilson appeared at a social gathering in his nightrobe and that he confided his family troubles to Mrs. Alice E. Mulkey, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the organization. Mr. Wilson admitted appearing in his bath robe, but not in his night shirt.

Mrs. Mulkey's explanation of conversations with him about his marital troubles was that he was a man of such importance in the labor world and had performed such valuable services to humanity that it was important to guard him from harm.

In dismissing the suit Judge Douglas said: "My decision is that the testimony does not show the plaintiff such an injured and innocent party as to entitle her to the decree she asks for. She and her husband seem to have been accustomed to greatly magnify trifles. As to the more serious things charged in her petition, and testified to, it is sufficient to say that the plaintiff has not shown herself entitled to urge them."

WOULD ANNUL MARRIAGE

Kathleen Mitchell Says She Was Kept Prisoner.

Kathleen Mitchell, the 13-year-old girl who was married at East St. Louis June 18 to Edward Allen, alias Greenway, 30 years old, has brought suit in the Circuit Court, through her mother, Mrs. Ella Johnston, as next friend, to have the marriage annulled. She says Allen, although he had know her all her life and knew she was only 13 years old, represented to the Marriage License Clerk in East St. Louis that she was 19 years old. She alleges that she was kept a prisoner by Allen from June 18 to June 22, when her mother found her in East St. Louis.

The girl declares that Allen never spoke to her about getting married, and she did not know what it meant when the ceremony was being performed. She is now with her mother at 220A South Twelfth street. Allen makes his home with his stepfather on Manchester avenue.

TWO OF THREE ST. LOUIS PRIESTS WHO WILL VOTE FOR JESUIT GENERAL

FR. J. MOELLER

REV. W. B. ROGERS, S.J.

JESUIT ELECTORS ALL EDUCATORS

Fathers Moeller, Grimmelsman and Rogers to Go to Rome.

WILL ELECT A GENERAL

St. Louis Delegation Is One-Half That of United States.

The convention of delegates from the eight Jesuit colleges of the Missouri Province, in session at St. Louis University for three days past, elected Rev. Father Henry Moeller, Provincial; Rev. W. B. Rogers, president of St. Louis University, and Rev. Father Joseph Grimmelsman, Tertian of the Florissant Novitiate, delegats to the election of a General of the society. The election will be held in Rome in September.

Six electors will represent the United States and Canada, three being from the Missouri Province and three from the New York-Maryland Province. The Missouri Province includes most of the western half of the United States.

Father Grimmelsman, in 1881, after having completed his course of philosophy at the University of Louvain, Belgium, successfully underwent the ordeal known as the Grand Act, a universal defense of every religious thesis. From 1891 until 1899 he was president of St. Louis University. In 1899 he was appointed Provincial of the Missouri Province, which position he held until he took charge this year at Florisant.

Built Present University.

Father Moeller was president of St. Louis University from 1885 until 1889, and was in charge of the construction of the present university buildings at West Pine boulevard and Grand avenue and of the removal from the old quarters on Washington avenue. From 1889 to 1896 he was preaching in the Western Missions. He succeeded Father Grimmelsman as provincial.

Father Rogers, the present head of St. Louis University, has had a brilliant career. He was vice-president of the universities in Cincinnati and St. Louis from 1891 to 1898, and was made president of the latter in 1898. Under his directorship the University has added a medical department, formerly Marion-Sims College.

The work of the convention at Rome will be principally to elect a General. Legislative business concerning the order will also be transacted. Of special concern to the American branch of the order will be the probable formation of a new province in the Southern States, and of another in Canada. The directorship of Turin and Naples over the Seattle and Denver missions may be abolished, and these two fields will be embraced under some American province.

Rev. Father Leopold Meyer, a former president of St. Louis University, is the present acting General of the Society of Jesus, and is considered a leading candidate for the generalship.

WOMAN'S CRIES SCARE BURGLAR

She Awakens to Find the Intruder Bending Over Her.

Mrs. Lawrence Meyer of 708 Gratiot street was awakened early Friday by a movement of her pillow. As she opened here eyes she saw a strange man bending over her and one of his arms was under the pillow beneath her head.

"What do you want here?" asked Mrs. Meyer.

"Keep your mouth shut," answered the stranger.

Mrs. Meyer screamed and her husband awoke. Seeing the stranger, Mr. Meyer made a rush for him, but the latter was too fast and made his escape by running out through a rear door.

The intruder got a purse containing $3, which Mrs. Meyer had secreted beneath her pillow.

Important Notice

All St. Louis Will Hail With Delight Next Monday's Glorious Sale Event at The May Co.

The iron-clad policy of The May Co. is to clear out one season's goods before the next season's arrive. Every season must stand on its own feet—earn its own profits—bear its own losses. Not one penny's worth of summer merchandise—no matter what the loss may be—will be carried over to next season. Out everything must go—out—OUT—OUT.

Monday morning we renew the gigantic sale which bespeaks a loss of many thousands of dollars, but which carries out, to the letter, the spirit of our well-defined policy. Every dollar's worth—every penny's worth of good, fresh, seasonable summer merchandise will be placed on sale Monday morning at positively ridiculous figures. Goods on every single floor will be marked at "good bye" prices. It will be the climax of a wonderful sale, continued more aggressively than ever before.

The knife is busy and prices are being ruthlessly cut. Wait for this important event. It starts Monday Morning, July 9th, at 8:00 A. M.

See the Sunday Globe-Democrat, Post-Dispatch and Republic for the surprising details.

TO MAKE ONE CHARGE

Cartage Will Be Included in Freight Bill—No Handling at Stations.

St. Louis merchants and manufacturers, all interested in the establishment of individual freight receiving and delivery stations in this city, believe that some decisive recommendation will be made after the meeting to be held by traffic officers here Monday next.

Store-door delivery, as it is considered at this time by both merchants and railroad men, means the operation of wagons by the railroads which will take freight from the cars on the side-tracks and deliver it at the door of the storekeeper or manufacturer. The charges will all be included in one rate, so that the bill for freight will not contain one item of cost for carrying the goods and another for delivering it at the place of business.

Washington avenue wholesale house traffice men say that the Wabash Railroad officials are looked upon as the originators of the plan for store delivery. Mr. Ives, traffice manager of the road, advocated the method last February, when it became evident that, extensive as are the St. Louis terminal plans of the Wabash, the store-door delivery system would facilitate the business, giving more room on station platforms and saving enormously in time. A great volume of the business could be handled from car to store or vice versa without passing through the freight houses and becoming subject to delays there.

Will Facilitate Business.

A representative of the Roberts, Johnson & Rand shoe concern said Friday: "The traffic officers of the Eastern roads owning terminals in St. Louis seem to favor store-door delivery. The Wabash first proposed it and was followed later by the Southern Railway officials, who advocated a plan meaning the same thing. St. Louis shippers suppose that all Eastern lines owning freight terminals in St. Louis will avow plans or measures in support of those terminals as the Wabash has done. The Louisville & Nashville, as well as the Burlington, Frisco and Eastern Illinois own and operate St. louis terminals."

From what was said in other quarters by business men, it was evident that they believed the question of store-door delivery is only one of the issues leading to the division into two groups of the eastern lines, one favoring the establishment and operation of St. Louis terminals, the other indifferent or undecided. It was pointed out that the St. Louis trunk lines to the southeast Atlantic seaboard and into the Birmingham coal and iron district contemplate an extensive business in structural steel and fuel products from that territory to St. Louis during the next 10 years and are anxious to be in readiness for delivery in carloads on their own St. Louis terminals.

51 KILLED, 3551 INJURED, JULY 4

Death List Growing Daily, While Number Hurt Breaks All Records.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The round-up of casualties due to an "insane" celebration of Independence Day shows 51 dead and 3551 injured. The loss of life almost equals that of last year, when 59 persons were killed. Every record for the number injured was broken.

Last year 42 persons were killed outright, but when lockjaw and other diseases induced by injuries had completed their work over 400 lives had been sacrificed.

The number of injured is in excess of last year's figures by 1109.

The center of slaughter was, as usual, Philadelphia, where 711 patriots and innocent bystanders were victims. The toy pistol was unusually destructive. Chicago was the second center of injury, two children being killed and 157 persons more or less injured. In New York sanity ruled to a certain extent, 65 injuries being reported, with two deaths.

Toledo was an example of what rigorous enforcement of law and the education of its citizens can accomplish. For days Mayor Whitlock preached sanity, and the result was that only two persons were injured, one of them being in a runaway.

That the death list will continue to grow for several days is indicated by a large number of dispatches recording injuries believed to be fatal. The deadly toy pistol was responsible for a big percentage of the injured, and six of the dead. How many of the injured are infected with the germs of tetanus cannot be estimated.

WILFLEY TO COME HERE.

Former St. Louisan Named Judge in China.

Lebbus R. Wilfley, formerly of St. Louis, who has been appointed to the bench of the newly created United States Court in China, has been given a leave of absence and will come to St. Louis to visit relatives. He has accepted the new appointment and relinquished the duties of Attorney-General of the Philippines to Gregoria Araneta, a Filipino, who has been Solicitor-General for several years. Judge Wilfley's position carries with it a sala. of $10,000.

Judge Wilfley was appointed Judge of the Court of First Instance in the Philippines in 1901, and a few months later was made Attorney-General. His new court will take the place of the Territorial or Consular courts in China, which were declared corrupt by Third Assistant Secretary of State Pierce, and the office will place him in the front rank of officials in Ah's Empire. His brother, X. P. Wilfley of St. Louis, formerly was the Judge's law partner here.

Returning.

Mr. Martin Voorhees and Mr. S. M. Kennard Jr. have completed their purchases of Oriental Rugs and have left Constantinople for Vienna and, Berlin, where they will spend several weeks selecting the best in Austrian and German carpets and rugs for J. Kennard & Son's Carpet Co.

NEW TERMINAL BODY DEMANDED

First Ward Improvement Ass'n Wants Mayor's Commission Disbanded.

Resolutions protesting against the passing of the bill to purchase the old Fair Grounds for a park because of the irregular manner of its passage in the House of Delegates and because of the "exorbitant price" set by the bill are to be presented to the City Council Friday by a committee from the First Ward Improvement Association.

The committee will also present resolutions asking the Assembly to abolish the Mayor's Terminal Commission and appoint another commission which will carry out the wishes of the people in respect to the building of the free bridge.

The bill for the purchase of the Fair Grounds for a total of $1,767,000 has passed the House and is now before the Council. Comptroller Player's certification, which is held necessary for appropriation bills, did not accompany this one.

The resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the improvement association at Newstead and Lee avenues Thursday night. They will be presented by a committee consisting of M. C. Schulte, John Hoffman, Louis F. Fuchs, Dr. B. J. Ludwig, George A. Slatery, C. H. Buel and Phil H. Sheridan.

BARS LACE WAIST FROM COMMUNION

Catholic Priest Warns Women of Congregation to Shun Current Fashions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 6.—The Rev. Father M. E. Lynott, pastor of St. Ignatius' Church at Kingston, has banished the "peek-a-boo" from his communion rail. Likewise, waists cut low in the neck, or with elbow sleeves, will bar their wearers from his altar.

Father Lynott believes such apparel for women is immodest, to say the least, and he has told the women of his parish that he hopes they will reform and shun the current fashions so long as they expose so much to view. So far as he can, he is determined to discourage Dame Fashion by expressly barring her from communion.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Girl Victim Was Member of Old California Family.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 6.—Miss Eleanor Brown, a member of one of the oldest families in Southern California, was killed in a runaway accident, and her sister, Miss Adelide Brown, aged 21, was seriously injured today.

The two young women were driving the family carriage team when the accident occurred which resulted in the younger girl's death. The father of Miss Brown is the president of the Southern Refining Co., and the family is related to the Bannings, who own Catalina Island.

ST. GAUDENS NOT ILL.

Report of Operation on Famous Sculptor Denied.

WINDSOR, Vt., July 6.—Augustus St. Gaudens, the sculptor, who was reported ill at his summer home in Cornish, N. H., and who has been in ill health for some time past, was busily at work when seen today. He has not been confined to the house since his arrival at Cornish, a few days ago.

At his home today it was denied that Mr. St. Gaudens had undergone any operation for the removal of a cancerous growth.

TRUSTEE'S SALE—Whereas Charles Fillingham, by his certain deed of trust, dated the twenty-third day of December, 1902, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, in book 1672, page 546, conveyed to the undersigned, trustee, the following described real estate situated in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, and being in Campbell's subdivision, to-wit: All of lots 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28 in block 1691 of the city of St. Louis, Mo., having together a front of two hundred feet (200) on the north line of Adeline street by a depth northwardly of 125 feet to an alley 15 feet wide, bounded north by said alley east by lot 20 of said block and subdivision, west by the west line of said subdivision and south by Adeline street. Also lots 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 in city block 1693, having together a front of two hundred and eight (208) feet more or less on the south line of Amanda street by a depth southwardly of varying distance to an alley 15 feet wide, on which said lots have together a width of two hundred (200) feet. Bounded north by Amanda street, east by lot 13, south by said alley and west by lot 4 of said block and subdivision. Also lots 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 of city block 1693, having together a front of two hundred and forty (240) feet on the north line of Eveline street by a depth northwardly of 125 feet to an alley 15 feet wide. Bounded north by said alley, east by a street, south by Eveline street and west by lot 24 of said block and subdivision; in trust, to secure the payment of certain notes in said deed specified; and, whereas, two of the principal notes and interests now past due and remain unpaid; now, therefore, at the request of the legal holder of said notes and in pursuance of the conditions in said deed of trust, I, the undersigned, trustee, will sell the property above described at public vendue, to the highest bidder, for cash, at the east front door of the Courthouse, in said city of St. Louis, on Saturday, July 28, 1906, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., for the purpose of said trust.

BOY NAMESAKE OF BARRINGTON'S VICTIM HANGS

Negro Named After Man Slain by Condemned "Lord" Expiates Assault.

SMOKES ON SCAFFOLD

Punishment Comes to Friendless Lad 17 Months After Crime's Commission.

ATTACKED THREE WOMEN

Frightened at Home of Railroad Employes He Assaulted Aged Couple.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 6.—James Pearsall, an 18-year-old negro namesake of James Pearsall McCann, was hanged here today for an assault committed 17 months ago on Mrs. Lucy Wagoner, a white woman.

The negro came upon the scaffold smoking a cigar and accompanied by a minister of his own color. He sang and prayed with the minister and in talks with his guards declared his conviction that he was saved.

When asked if he was guilty Pearsall said: "Before God, I am innocent."

The attaches of the Sheriff's office, with a number of prominent citizens, were on the platform. Sheriff John McElroy pulled the lever which allowed the trapdoor to fall.

Pearsall's neck was broken and he was pronounced dead in 10 minutes.

The dead man was a namesake of James P. McCann, killed in St. Louis by Lord Seymour Barrington, for which crime Barrington is under sentence of death.

Pearsall's father was the body servant of McCann and was banished from the farm for his threatening attitude toward McCann's father.

Two aunts and a sister of Pearsall are in the Penitentiary.

Was Third Attempt.

The assault for which Pearsall was hanged followed two attempted assaults committed by him within an hour on the night of Jan. 19, 1905.

The first attempt was at the home of Henry Pilard, a telegraph operator for the Lexington & Eastern Railroad. Pearsall, who, as shown by goods found in his room, had committed a number of burglaries, was prowling around and saw Pilard leave his home to go to work. He saw Mrs. Pilard go back to bed after her husband departed. He tried to force the window. Mrs. Pilard head him and telephoned to the police. Pearsall, hearing the telephone, abandoned his attempt.

Pearsall then went to the home of Mrs. R. L. Jones, wife of another railroad employe, who had just left home for work. He entered by a back window, and while the police were searching for him at Mrs. Pilard's home he attacked Mrs. Jones. The woman's screams aroused the house and the negro ran.

Pearsall then went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagoner, a poor aged couple living near the edge of town. He shot Wagoner, who was in bed with his wife, and leaving him unconscious, ordered the woman to go into the kitchen. There he beat her into insensibility.

The police arrested Pearsall next day and took him before the two women. Both identified him, as did also Wagoner.

It was with difficulty that the officers here kept Pearsall from a mob, and but for the fact that he was taken to Louisville for safe keeping he would have doubtless been lynched. aLter eParsall was brought here and tried. His case was appealed, but sentence was confirmed.

GIRL HURLED FROM RIG.

Three Companions Unhurt When Buggy Overturns.

Miss Onabel Noble, 15 years old, of Jennings, St. Louis County, was rendered unconscious when the buggy in which she was riding with Miss Annie Brooksmith, James Hyatt and Eckert Gattschoner, also of Jennings, was overturned in front of 8112 North Broadway. The other occupants of the buggy were only slightly injured.

The four young people came into St. Louis to spend a day. Hyatt was driving, and as he attempted to turn out of the car tracks one of the wheels of the buggy caught and the vehicle was overturned. Miss Noble was revived and taken to her home.

POLICEMAN MARRIED.

Charles Watkins Weds Week After Divorce.

Policeman Charles H. Watkins of the Carr Street Station was married to his boyhood sweetheart, whose name appeared on the records as Miss Lillian Lawler, a week after obtaining a divorce from his former wife. The ceremony was performed at the King's Highway Presbyterian Church Wednesday.

The bride is the daughter of the late Patrick Lawler, who was a member of the police and detective force 30 years. Her brother, William Lawler, is a special officer attached to the Carr Street Station. She is the widow of Charles Ray, who died five years ago.

Watkins charged his former wife with desertion in his petition for divorce and testified that he traveled over Texas and California to find her and induce her to return to their home, something which he failed to do.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER.

Clad in Overalls and Jumper—No Marks of Identification.

John Brown, a fisherman, picked up the body of a man in the river Friday morning a little distance off the Union elevator. It was that of a man about 40 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, with short clipped hair and a small mustache. The body was clad in blue overalls and jumper, and only one foot had a shoe.

Brown towed the body ashore to the Union elevator, and from there it was taken to Bickler's Morgue on Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis. There was nothing about the body or clothing that could aid in identifying it, and the only things found in the pockets of the clothing were a knife and a pipe. The body had the appearance of having been in the water a long time.

Veteran Hunter Dies.

The funeral of Christian Engelman, 71 years old, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m., from the family residence at 1811 Madison street. Mr. Engelmann was a veteran of the Civil War. He had always been an enthusiastic sportsman, and since retiring from business had spent much of his time hunting and fishing. He died of paralysis Wednesday. A son, George, and a daughter, Mrs. Augusta Dehlendorf, survive him.

SPENCER MADE COLONEL.

Former Commander of Engineers Heads the First.

Eugene J. Spencer, a West Point graduate, and commander of a regiment of engineers in the Spanish-American war, was elected Colonel of the First Regiment, National Guard of Missouri, Thursday night. He succeeds Col. Frank B. McKenna, who resigned because of pressure of business.

Col. Spencer has lived in St. Louis since the close of the Spanish war. He has announced his intention of making a special effort to secure the full quota of men for the regiment at once, in preparation for the August encampment at Cape Girardeau.

No Room for the Insane.

The crowded condition of the Insane Asylum has compelled the Board of Health to lay over for further consideration the names of four applicants for admission to that institution. Of the 12 applications submitted to the board Thursday six were refused admittance. One was ordered taken to Springfield, and the other will be taken care of by relatives. The four cases under consideration will come up at the next meeting of the board.

CAN'T PAY CLUB DUES.

Glen Echo Club Named as Creditor in Bankruptcy.

James B. Albach, a commission merchant of 421 South Seventh street, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court, reciting that his liabilities are $81,288 and his assets $187,035. Of the assets, $90,000 is insurance, the petition says, part of which secures an indebtedness of $32,500 to the principal creditor, the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills of Minneapolis.

Another creditor is the Glen Echo Club, to which Albach owes dues, the petition says. Stock in various companies aggregates $75,000 of the assets.

Nicolaus on Executive Board.

Henry Nicolaus has been chosen a member of the Executive Council of the St. Louis Manufacturers' Association, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of officers to fill the place of the late W. F. Nolker, vice-president of the association. M. G. Richmond succeeded to Mr. Nolker's place, the other promotions being: P. M. Hanson to third vice-president, A. D. Brown to fourth vice-president, H. W. Peters to fifth vice-president. Mr. Peters is succeeded by Mr. Nicolaus.

MRS. FACH RENEWS CLAIM ON HUSBAND

She Again Charges Common Law Marriage Made Him Responsible.

Mrs. Elvira M. Fach, whose suit against her former husband, Theodore Fach, a former resident of Portland place, was thrown out of court at Clayton on a demurrer, has filed an amended petition. In it she asks for $300 a month for her support, and seeks to enjoin Fach from collecting his income or transferring his estate.

She seeks to establish her claim to support on the grounds that he is her common law husband, alleging that they made an agreement of this nature in October, 1903, following their divorce in July, and that they lived together until October, 1905.

In her petition Mrs. Fach alleges that her former husband owns a large estate, and that his income is $600 per month. He formerly lived at 32 Portland place. He now lives at Oakland, near Kirkwood, where he and his brothers own considerable property. Mrs. Fach alleges that he has threatened to place it in such a condition that she will be unable to collect a judgment, should she secure one.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fach were divorced, the wife took the furnishings of the home at Kirkwood and $1000 in settlement of all her claims.

MOTOR BOAT BEARS PARTY OF FOUR 577 MILES TO ST. LOUIS

Gale on Lake Michigan Is All That Mars Journey From Muskegon, Mich.—Trip Made in Forty-Foot Craft, Keen Cutter—No Sunday "Lid" Encountered by Merry Travelers.

With the story of a battle with a gale on Lake Michigan as the "piece de resistance" of the journey, a party of men headed by E. C. Batten of the Simmons Hardware Co. is relating its experiences during a trip of 577 miles in a motor boat from Muskegon, Mich., to St. Louis. The trip was made by Lake Michigan and the Chicago River, the Illinois and Michigan canals and the Illinois and Mississippi rivers.

The journey was made in the Simmons company's new 40-foot motor boat, the Keen Cutter, and, in addition to Mr. Batten, those in the party were Paul McCracken of the Racine Boat Manufacturing Co., George D. Lyford, manager of the sporting goods department of the Simmons company, and Fred Daehmert, chief electrician of the same establishment.

"Our party," explained Mr. Batten, "consisted of four congenial and, under ordinary circumstances, cheery men, not generally afraid of man, the elements or the devil, but I may say that the great Lake Michigan has its terrors for two—because that great malady, seasickness, laid its tremendous hold on Lyford and Daehmert to such an extent that during the gale they were not even interested to know whether the lifeboat was aboard or the engine needed oiling. I can even now see Daehmert trying with all his force of character to explain to me at that critical time the difference between the carburetor and the clutch.

Picked Up by High Places.

"Those who have seen a gale of three or fours hours' duration on Lake Michigan, will readily appreciate the fact, that in a 40-foot launch we were simply picked up by one high place and thrown over to the next—sometimes thrown clear over the next into the bottom of the one which was sure to follow—from top to bottom and from bottom to top—but our launch came right side down every time. Now this boat was not built for ocean traveling and the mass of broken crockery, glassware, edibles, etc., which we threw overboard—not to mention bruised shins and heads—was quite remarkable."

The storm came at the very beginning of the journey.

"Leaving Muskegon," said Mr. Batten, 'one of those extraordinary June storms gathered up a whole lot of fury, way down in the Southwestern states somewhere and started in a 'bee line' for Chicago, selecting a northeasterly course across the lake—trying its very best to head us off and break up our journey; and we amused ourselves one entire afternoon trying to persuade the barometer to rise one point. Finally that rise of one point occurred about 8 o'clock Thursday evening, June 7, and we crossed Muskegon Bay so as to tie up in the channel at the Life Saving Station, through which the steamers pass out into the great lake. We reached our anchorage there about 11:30 and by the time we tied our boat it was blowing a gale.

"Friday morning found the weather no better; that is, as far as the clouds and barometer were concerned, but there was not such a heavy sea at that running. We advised with the Captain of the Life Saving Station until 11 a. m., when we decided to start for Chicago, 176 miles a day. In about an hour those great, black clouds, which mean wind and plenty of it, to the mariner, rose rapidly out of the horizon ahead of us and the sea commenced to 'make' very fast—and continued to 'make' until we decided to put back into Grand Haven.

"We anchored for the night in Grand Haven, and Saturday morning started out at 6 o'clock. The sea, however, would insist on 'making,' simply to prove to us that it could do it, and after a few hours we were driven back into Holland. We then coasted down to South Haven and from South Haven to St. Joseph, where we witnessed one of the most beautiful sunsets and rainbows I have ever seen.

"This condition and a rise of the barometer reassured us, so we determined to start at 11 o'clock that night for Chicago. About midnight, we were overtaken by the 'City of Chicago' and we saluted and received a salute in return. We verified our course and found that we were absolutely correct.

"Nature, however, seemed to have it in for us, and when we were just exactly half way across the lake, a squall came up out of the horizon and 'squalled' for an hour. Daylight brought fair weather and when we ran into Chicago the sea was quite calm."

ITALIANS STORM STORE.

Driver Took Refuge There After Injuring Boy.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A mob of frenzied Italians stormed a drug store at First avenue and Fourteenth street yesterday to get William Dustic, a driver, whose cart ran over and fatally injured a little boy. A policeman had carried the child into the store and arrested the driver.

While the policeman was waiting for an ambulance, about 300 men made a rush on the store, breaking in the door. The policeman hid his prisoner and blew his whistle for help. A plain clothes man off duty hurried in and with a revolver held the crowd at bay until a third officer arrived. As the dying child was taken away in an ambulance one of the policemen got the prisoner away safely by a back door.

When the crowd learned this another rush was made upon the store. Show cases and glass receptacles were smashed and other damage done, but the remaining two policemen drove the Italians back and restored order.

JUDGE NORTONI MARRIES.

Member of Appellate Bench Takes Bride in Illinois.

News has reached St. Louis of the marriage at Olney, Ill., of Judge Bert D. Nortoni, one of the judges of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, to Miss Emma T. Belcher of Columbia, Mo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. E. Sisson of Olney.

Judge Nortoni left St. Louis a few days ago, telling his friends he was going to spend his vacation in the East. The news of his marriage came as a surprise to his friends here. He had been a widower for 10 years. He came to St. Louis five years ago from New Cambria, Mo. He was appointed assistant United States District Attorney and gained distinction in the prosecution of naturalization fraud cases. He was elected to the Appellate bench in the Republican landslide of 1904.

PROPOSALS FOR CITY PRINTING

Office of City Register,
City Hall, St. Louis, July 3, 1906.

Pursuant to the requirements of the Charter and ordinances of the City of St. Louis, sealed bids will be received at this office, Room 203, City Hall, until 12 o'clock noon, and opened TUESDAY, JULY 17, 1906,

From the publishers of newspapers in the City of St. Louis having an uniform daily circulation of over three thousand (3000) copies, for the City Printing for a term ending June 15, 1907. Published in the English language.

Said bids must propose to do the printing and advertising required by law and ordinances to be done in newspapers, including Mullanphy Relief Fund and Collector's office, at an uniform price per line.

The printing must conform to the following, viz:

Size, character and name of type, nonpareil; minimum length of line, twenty-six (26) ems; minimum width of column, thirteen (13) ems pica; character of the measurements to be employed, nonpareil.

They shall also state in the bid at what cost per page they will print two hundred (200) copies of the proceedings of the Municipal Assembly, as may be published in such paper, in pamphlet form (no blank pages to be counted) and deliver same within two days after each meeting to each House of the Municipal Assembly. Also at what price per page they will print and deliver one hundred (100) copies of the proceedings of the Board of Public Improvements, as may be published in the newspaper, in pamphlet form (no blank pages to be counted); also at what price per page they will print and deliver fifteen hundred (1500) copies of the ordinances as may be published in the newspapers of an uniform size suitable for binding in the customary form (no blank pages to be counted). The foregoing pamphlet work to conform in all respects to samples on file, and to be seen by bidders in this office.

Bidders will be required to deposit with the City Treasurer the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), and attach the Treasurer's receipt to each bid; also, an affidavit that the daily circulation of the paper is over three thousand (3000) copies daily.

No bid will be considered in which there shall be an erasure or interlineation.

All bids must be indorsed "Proposals for City Printing."

Bids will be opened at the office of the City Register.

The City Register reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

A bond of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) will be required for the faithful performance of the contract. The paper receiving the contract will be required to furnish one hundred and fifty (150) copies of the daily paper and twenty (20) slips of each advertisement made by the Register free of charge to said Register; also twenty-four (24) slips of each advertisement made by the Commissioner of Supplies, free of charge to said Commissioner.

EXPLOSION KILLS TWO, WOUNDS FOUR

Saginaw (Mich.) Building Is Wrecked and Every Window in Block Broken.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 6.—A gasoline tank in the Cosendal Dye Works exploded with terrific force today, wrecking the building in which it was located, instantly killing E. A. Foehl and Carl Casendals, employes, and wounding four other persons.

The body of Cosendals was not found until some time after.

Every window in the block bounded by Tuscola, Jefferson, Baum and Genessee streets was broken.

GIRLS SAY WURTZ WOUNDED HIS WIFE

She Says Another Fired the Shot, but He Is Held in Jail.

GRANDCHILDREN NEAR BY

Their Screams Called Neighbor's Daughter Before the Shooting.

John G. Wurtz of Willow avenue, Old Orchard, will appear before Justice Barron of Webster Groves Wednesday to answer the charge of assault to kill his wife, Mrs. Ellen Wurtz, who was shot through the body Wednesday night. Mrs. Wurtz denies that her husband shot her, and says a man with whom she had a quarrel fired the shot.

Wurtz is in the Clayton Jail, having been unable to give the $2000 bond required.

Mrs. Wurtz is in a serious condition at her home, but will recover, her physicians say. The bullet entered the breast an inch above the heart, and came out near the shoulder blade. She says, as does her husband, that two shots were fired from the opposite side of the street.

Mrs. Wurtz says her husband was shooting a Roman candle for their 11-year-old grandson, Franklin Millbaugh of St. Louis, when the shots were fired. One passed through her body, striking the side of the house near which she was standing and rebounding 15 feet in the yard.

Says He Shot at Dog.

Marshal Nace of Webster Groves found a 32-caliber bullet near where Mrs. Wurtz was wounded. He also found Wurtz's revolver in the house. One chamber had been fired, but the empty shell had not been removed. The bullet fitted the caliber of the pistol.

Pat Nee, a neighbor, was arrested Wednesday by Marshal Nace, but was later released.

Wurtz was arrested on the statements of Laura Nee, 16-year-old daughter of Pat Nee, and Martha and Lizzie Gieselbach, neighbors. The Gieselbach girls were taking Laura Nee home when they drove by the Wurtz home.

A little grandson of the Wurtzes ran to them, they say, and asked them to call the police. Laura Nee says she heard the child say: "Grandpa, don't." She says they then saw Wurtz pointing the pistol at Mrs. Wurtz.

The Gieselbach girls drove hurriedly to their home, and their mother telephoned for Marshal Nace.

Wurtz declares that he and his wife were shooting fireworks when the shots were fired. He says he tried to help his wife after she was shot, and then took his revolver and tried to meet the man he suspected. He explains the empty cartridge in his revolver by saying that he fired a shot at a dog which ran his Maltese cats up a tree some time ago, and had neglected to extract the shells.

Wurtz is 52 and his wife 59 years old.

GUTKE WILL BUILD NEW TROLLEY LINE

Hillsboro, Kimmswick & Northern Part of Montesano Plans.

The electric railroad for which a charter has been granted under the name of the Hillsboro, Kimmswick & Northern, was said Friday by H. F. Vogel to be a part of his Montesano Springs resort plant at Kimmswick.

"The plan," said Mr. Vogel to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "is to give quick and frequent service to Kimmswick and the new resort, by building from the Broadway line at Jefferson Barracks south to Kimmswick and southwest to Hillsboro. About 28 of the 33 miles of the line will be in Jefferson County and none in the city of St. Louis. We plan a 15-minute service between Kimmswick and the Barracks, and an hourly service between Kimmswick and Hillsboro."

Mr. Vogel said that the work of planning the Montesano resort is so extensive that the task of building the railroad was turned over to Charles A. Gutke and Attorney Hall, whose names appeared among those of the incorporators. Of the total issue of $600,000 of the securities of the Montesano project, $300,000 were set aside for railway construction purposes. The projectors of the line have had engineers in the field for some time and were in Hillsboro Friday looking after the business of the line at the southern terminus.

Bohemian Clergy to Attend Funeral of Mgr. Hessoun.

The funeral of Very Rev. Mgr. Joseph Hessoun, pastor of St. John of Nepomuk's Church, Eleventh and Soulard streets, will be held at the church next Tuesday morning. Archbishop Glennon will have charge of the services and priests from the principal Bohemian Catholic churches of the United States will attend. Burial will be in SS. Peter and Paul's Cemetery.

Mgr. Hessoun, who was 76 years of age, died from paralysis. He was born in Vrcovice, Bohemia, and came to America at the age of 35, settling in St. Louis.

He was one of the most distinguished members of the Bohemian clergy in America. One of his enterprises was the establishment in 1871 of the Hlas, the first Bohemian newspaper published in America. Pope Leo XIII conferred on him the title of monsignor 10 years ago.

Body Found in River.

The body of a man was found floating in the river at the foot of Spruce street Thursday night. The man was apparently about 35 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, 150 pounds in weight, with dark brown hair, turning gray, and reddish brown mustache. The body seemed to have been in the river about four weeks. The body was discovered by A. L. Warren, who lives at the foot of Walnut street, and Frank Collins of 18 South Eleventh street.

Cigar A Insurance

The ▲ box-mark of the American Cigar Company is the official seal of insurance on your cigars, whatever price you pay for them, insurance of quality, uniformity, cleanness and condition.

It guarantees you better cigars at every price—cigars that are fragrant, full-flavored, mellow and absolutely unvarying in quality.

The American Cigar Company has established scientific system in every stage of cigar production, from the culture of the tobacco to the delivery of the cigar.

The American Cigar Company has equipped a great system of "Stemmeries" to provide for new and heretofore unknown tobacco-improving processes, which no other manufacturer even attempts.

The selected leaf is thoroughly fermented by a two-year process and the ripening tobacco is perfectly blended—all the qualities of the selected varieties of leaf that have been stored in contact being smoothly mingled. The ordinary factory operation called "blending" is not blending at all but merely mixing.

The finished cigars are stored in great "Humidors" where the climatic conditions of Cuba are constantly maintained—a moist warm air and an even temperature. Here the finished cigars are constantly improving, like rare old wine—with all their characteristic aroma intact until they are ready to go to the dealer. After this seasoning and maturing and before being shipped, the cigar boxes are sealed and double-sealed in a tough parchment paper wrapper which does much to preserve their condition.

The only way to get the highest cigar quality at any price is to see you get an American Cigar Company brand. The cigar that suits thousands of other smokers may not please your taste at all; yet the way to test the results of the new tobacco-improving process is to begin with such a remarkable "hit" as the

"ANNA HELD" CIGAR
5 Cents

The "Anna Held" is a perfectly blended smoke—a typical example of the results of the new system of cigar production. It is a seasoned cigar, with no slightest trace of rawness; rich and full-flavored, yet with no tinge of bitterness; well-rolled, even-burning, fragrant and satisfying.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with female ills, which caused me severe pain, extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid female tonic. What a blessing it is to find such a remedy after so many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you experience weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female ills or some derangement. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

JUDGE FATALLY WOUNDS LAWYER

Tennessee Jurist Shoots College Ball Pitcher as He Steps From Train.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 6.—Scott County, this State, was given a sensation yesterday afternoon when Sam Parker, a prominent lawyer, was shot as he stepped off a passenger train at Helenwood, Tenn., by Judge James E. Fulton. Fulton used a double-barreled shotgun, emptying both charges into Parker's abdomen. Neither party spoke a word and Parker fell to the ground with a groan. His condition is critical and it is not thought he can survive.

Parker, it is alleged, was too friendly with a near relative of Fulton's. Fulton, when he learned of it, set out to secure revenge. Fulton was arrested. He is about 40 years old and one of the most prominent members of the East Tennessee bar, having served several times as special judge and chancellor. He is also prominent as a Democratic politician.

Parker is well known in Southern intercollegiate baseball circles, having for the past three seasons been pitcher for the University of Tennessee team. He is on of the best college pitchers of the South. He graduated from the law department of the University of Tennessee this spring and has been practicing in the office of his father, Judge Parker, at Helenwood.

PLAYS "UNCLE TOM" EGGS RUIN HIS EYE

Kentuckians Couldn't Stand the Ancient Play and Attacked Amateurs.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CANMER, Ky., July 6.—At an amateur performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at this place as a part of the Fourth of July celebration, Albert Clapton, one of the actors who took the part of Uncle Tom, was showered with eggs, good, bad and otherwise, and one of his eyeballs was so severely punctured by a piece of shell that the optic has been removed.

The young Thespians, who are mostly returned college boys, home for the vacation, had been threatened with an egging if they persisted in putting on "Uncle Tom's Cabin," but they had studied their parts in widely scattered schools and decided to go on with it.

The egging was done in a spirit of rough joking rather than indignation, and young Clapton was the only one hurt. When the shower began he stepped to the footlights and raised his hands for order, when a half dozen eggs struck him in the face, one crushing with full force into the left eye. Despite his affliction, young Clapton says he would not prosecute the one who destroyed his eye, if he knew his identity. Conditions reversed, he declares, he would have thrown some eggs at Uncle Tom himself.

DISCUSS ALIMONY FOR CASTELLANE

Relatives of Countess and Lawyers of Count Talk of Divorce Arrangements.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, July 6.—The question of alimony for Count Boni de Castellane came up for discussion at a meeting held yesterday in the palace of the Countess at which she, her brother, George Gould, and her sister, Helen Gould, as well as the Count's lawyers, participated. No decision was reached.

Opponents of Count Castellane's reelection to the Chamber of Deputies are sending to the voters of his district in the Basses Apies Department translations of the articles printed by New York papers anent the causes which led the Countess to apply for divorce. The French papers were prevented from printing the material by the French libel laws. Castellane has been ousted from the Chamber of Deputies, not because he did not receive a majority of the votes of his district, but because it was alleged he bought votes. If he is elected again the Chamber will be powerless to oust him again. Hence the campaign literature.

FUGITIVE AND OFFICER SHOOT

Danville (Ind.) Constable and Man Wanted for Abduction Empty Their Revolvers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ind., July 6.—A revolver duel, in which both men emptied their weapons at each other, was fought at the Big Four Station here last night between Constable Oliver Wilthoit and James Ross, whom the officer was trying to arrest for abduction. The officer received a scalp wound and a bullet went through his hat. His opponent was not touched.

Ross was wanted for abducting Belle Ross, 16, a distant relative, from her home in Queensville.

The young woman tells of mistreatment at the hands of her alleged abductor. She says that Ross induced her to leave home, where she was not happy. She says that he has kept her in hiding for several days in a thicket in the creek bottoms near Danville without shelter. She says when she threatened to run away he drew a revolver and said he would kill her.

Ross was finally landed in jail.

FEDERAL WARRANT FOR CARRIE NATION

Kansas Crusader Charged With Sending Obscene Matter Through the Mails.

GUTHRIE, O. T., July 6.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, who it is alleged, has been publishing information usually considered unprintable, in order to "teach young boys to lead pure lives," is charged with sending obscene matter through the mails.

John W. Scothorn, acting United States Attorney, issued an order for Mrs. Nation's arrest last night. Her paper is called The Hatchet.

Will Instruct Farmers.

John T. Stinson, superintendent of pomology at the World's Fair, has been appointed agricultural agent of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain systems. Mr. Stinson was formerly director of the Missouri Fruit Experiment Station at Mountain Grove and statistician of the Apple Growers' Association. He has done a great deal towards educating farmers in protection of fruits from insects and disease. He will continue in this work, demonstrating methods in an exhibition car.

CAN'T DISTURB DEAF MAN'S PEACE

Judge Moore Frees Miss Fernandez, Accused of Annoying Plummer.

Violent language does not constitute a disturbance of the peaace when the person toward whom it is directed does not hear it in person. This was the decision of Judge Moore of the Court of Criminal Correction when he discharged Miss M. J. Fernandez, a stenographer in the Chemical Building, who was fined $5 in the Dayton Street Police Court for calling E. S. Plummer a "dead beat" by telephone from 10 to 40 times a day.

Mr. Plummer, who is 80 years old, is a stamp dealer in the Colonial Security Building. He is so hard of hearing that he had to call others to answer the telephone. He says Miss Fernandez had a bill against his son-in-law, J. A. Parkes.

Judge Moore held that since those who had heard the remarks had not complained, Plummer, who had heard nothing but reports of the conversation, had not been disturbed.

The court also held that the placard placed on Mr. Plummer's office door, "Dead beat, when are you going to pay that bill?" was not a disturbance of the peace.

Miss Helen Parkes testified that Miss Fernandez would call up their home at 725 Aubert avenue, ten or fifteen times a day and say: "Where is that dead-beat father of yours?" She denied that she ever went to Miss Fernandez' office and chased her out of the building.

Army Prays Frequently.

The Governor of Herat has presented the following report to the Amir of Afghanistan: "The behavior of the army is satisfactory, and there have been no cases of serious crime. The Herat army now says its prayers five times a day, and the men are becoming imbued [illegible] Mussulmans.

Passenger Fights Porter.

An argument about the location of a berth resulted in an exchange of blows between a white passenger and a negro porter at the Union Station Thursday night. The white man knocked the negro down. As neither person cared to prosecute, there were no arrests. The police report gives the passenger's name as A. R. Byrd, president of the Alsop Process Co., and the negro's name as John H. Anderson.

OUR GREAT $11.00 SUIT SALE

The Premier Clothing Event of the Year---With Its Manifold Value--Giving Surprises---Will be Enthusiastically Inauguarated Saturday at Famous!

ANOTHER season's selling has been completed and thanks to the generous support of our valued patrons, it has been by long odds the most successful season Famous has ever experienced. It has required much larger stocks than we have heretofore carried, to satisfy the wants of our patrons this season, and as a result this great $11 sale will be on a much broader scale than we have ever before attempted—no previous sale presented such vast assortments or such comprehensive stocks as are promised you when this sale begins here Saturday morning.

TO insure a speedy and positive clearance, further profits have been abandoned, costs are disregarded and heavy losses will be incurred in many instances, as past experience has taught us that the price cutting route is the only direct way of effecting an immediate clearance. No need to dwell at length here on the merits of these garments—every one bears Famous label, which is a guarantee of its quality, character and reliance. Twice each year, and only twice, are you confronted with such truly exceptional buying opportunities.

ANGRY SENATOR SAYS HITCHCOCK IS IN DOTAGE

AFFECTS HIS PATRONAGE

Says His State Can't Get Fair Share of Reclamation Fund.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 6.—Senator Charles W. Fulton, who has returned from Washington, said this morning that the reason that the people of his State have no fair share of the reclamation fund is because of open hostility of Secretary Hitchcock for Oregon.

"I will admit that I am at a loss to understand it," replied Senator Fulton, when asked the reason of Secretary Hitchcock's hostility to Oregon. "That there is hostility I know. I had the greatest difficulty in procuring a portion of the fund for the Umatilla irrigation project, although the bureau was heartily in favor of it.

"The Secretary of the Interior is in his dotage. He seems to think that it is impossible for anything good to come out of Oregon."

TEXAS LIVERYMAN SLAIN IN OFFICE

Shot to Death by Customer After Quarrel Over Horses He Stabled.

DALLAS, Tex., July 6.—W. A. Mimms was shot to death in his livery stable, on Patterson avenue, near Griffin street, today by C. C. Williams of Farmersville, Tex. Mimms was seated in a chair in his office when Williams entered and opened fire, sending two bullets through the heart of Mimms, killing him instantly.

Williams made no effort to escape, but refused to make a statement as to why he killed Mimms. He is locked up in the County Jail, charged with murder.

Men at the livery stable say Williams put some horses in the stable several weeks ago. Yesterday he desired to take them out, but Mimms would not let him have them until he would pay the bill for their care. The two men quarreled and Williams left the stable. He returned this morning and shot Mimms.

MAN WHO TRAINED JAPS TO WIN DIES

Major-General Meckel, Whom Oyama Credited With Mukden Victory, Expires.

BERLIN, July 6.—Major-General Meckel, formerly professor of military tactics in Japan, died today. He went to Japan in 1885, stayed there three years, reorganized the Japanese Army and wrote a noted book on tactics.

Field Marshal Oyama, after the Battle of Mukden, telegraphed to Gen. Meckel, ascribing his success to Meckel's instruction. The Emperor of Japan conferred the Grand Cross of the Order of the Sacred Treasure on the General after the battle.

REBATERS OVERRULED.

CHICAGO, July 6.—At the trial of the Chicago & Alton Railroad on the charge of rebating, Judge Landis today overruled the motion of the defense that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty on eight of ten of the counts in the indictment.

Burglars Rob Saloon.

GIRL TWICE KEPT FROM ENDING LIFE

Nora Flowers Makes Attempts After a Jealous Quarrel.

Having had a quarrel with her sweetheart, which resulted in estrangement for two weeks, Nora Flowers, 16 years old, made two unsuccessful attempts to kill herself, one on Independence Day and the other the following afternoon.

Her father knocked the carbolic acid bottle from her hand the first time at their home, 1313 Blair avenue, and neighbors at Fourteenth and O'Fallon streets did the same thing when they saw her try to drink the poison in front of the Emergency Hospital the second time.

The fiery fluid was spilled over her face and burned her severely, but the men prevented her swallowing much of it. At the City Hospital she said that she has no intention of making another effort to end her life.

She says jealousy caused her quarrel with her suitor.

Her father, for whom she keeps house, caught her and dashed the bottle from her hand, and she promised never to make such an attempt again. Thursday she visited a friend, then started for an aunt's home. On the way she again resolved to die, and bought some more carbolic acid.

As she was passing the Emergency Hospital she raised the vial to her lips and tried to swallow the burning liquid. Several men rushed at her, seized the bottle and handed her over to the police.

PASTOR MERCER DIES SUDDENLY

Ohio New Jerusalem Minister Who Originated Parliament of Religions, Expires.

CINCINNATI, O., July 6.—Rev. Dr. L. P. Mercer, pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem, in this city, and for 25 years pastor of the largest church of his denomination in Chicago, dropped dead of heart disease at his home today.

Dr. Mercer was the originator of the Parliament of Religions which was one of the features of the Chicago World's Fair in 1893.

House Thief Still Busy.

The rooming house thief is still at work. A gold watch and a quantity of clothing belonging to William Eaves and Hans Tandley, rooming at 2635 Washington avenue, were stolen Friday. Claude McMurty, who rooms at 1828 Wash street, reported to the police that a thief stole his watch while he was absent from the house.

CHANGES TRUNKS WITH A WOMAN

Alton Youth Uncertain of Romantic Possibilities.

Edward Watson, son of Mrs. E. A. Rodgers of Upper Alton, has a trunk. It isn't his, and he isn't quite sure whether it is filled with romantic possibilities or just somebody's bridal trousseau.

Being only 23 years old, Edward will investigate. If the trunk, which was exchanged for his somewhere between Grant, I. T., and Alton, should prove to be the property of a single woman of youth and beauty, and if she in turn got Edward's trunk, there is the romance ready made.

After Edward arrived home he opened the trunk, which the expressman brought from the depot. In the dark he came near donning a peek-a-boo shirt waist. He would have done so if he had not run one of the open-work holes in his eye and thus discovered the true nature of the garment.

Further researches in the trunk disclosed several tailor-made suits, feminine and other apparel.

GIRL ACCUSES HIM OF HIRING FOOTPAD, WHOM HE THRASHED

Plaintiff in Breach of Promise Suit Says Man Was Employed to Insult Her and Then to Submit to Drubbing at Hands of Heroic Fiance.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 6.—Miss Gertrude Dennig of Hannahstown, this county, has entered suit in Common pleas Court against Wm. Wannamaker of Swissvale, charging him with breach of promise to marry, and demanding $25,000 damages. It is the newest of the "society scandals" and is an amazingly clean scandal—that is, from a Pittsburg standpoint.

Miss Dennig is extremely indignant at the refusal of the young man to marry her, and declares that she has been grossly humiliated by his failure to carry out his contract. She is 25 years old and he is 20.

Miss Dennig declares that she became engaged to the young man in January, 1902, and that he gave her a diamond engagement ring. They were to have been married on Christmas Day of 1902 and went to the home of her sister, Mrs. Caroline Schrog, in Lisbon, O., where the ceremony was to have been performed.

While they were in Lisbon, she alleges, they were walking along the street one night when they were encountered by a hold-up man, who demanded their money or their lives. Wannamaker responded by jumping into the hold-up man and giving him an awful beating. He immediately became a great hero in the eyes of his sweetheart.

The next day while they were walking along the street, she alleges, a man passed and made an insulting remark to Miss Dennig, whereupon Wannamaker again jumped into the offender and repeated the pugilistic performance. For this second feat of bravery Miss Dennig considered him the greatest hero that ever lived and was very happy.

Soon after these incidents, she alleges, young Wannamaker's love grew cold. Then, to her dismay, she discovered that the hold-up man and the man who had insulted her in the street had both been paid by Wannamaker to do the jobs, and had been fully prepared for the beatings he received. She declared that when he refused to marry her, Wannamaker took the engagement ring, extracted the stone and pawned it. She still continues to wear the gold band of the ring.

Wannamaker denies all the charges.

The Peril of "THE LADY EVELYN." A Thrilling Installment of Max Pemberton's Great Romance in the Next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

A New Capitol for Missouri

First account of the plan devised by the Administration

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH.
Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER. Published by The Pulitzer Publishing Co., 210-212 N. Broadway.

With the Fathers, it was the glorious Fourth; with us it is the goreous Fourth.

Mr. Rockefeller has by this time noticed that Miss Addams is an Adams with two d's.

In the Busch bill investigation, the public wants the facts, not tricks and evasions to conceal the facts.

Unless the count of votes in the city election contest is expedited it will not make much difference in the results which side wins.

GLOOMY COL. WATTERSON.

Col. Henry Watterson's interview on the Bryan candidacy contained no soul-stirring slogan to call the Democratic hosts to battle. The Colonel considers Mr. Bryan as a presidential candidate solely from the cold-blooded standpoint of availability. He is resigned—resigned seems to be a fit word to describe the Watterson mood—to Bryan's candidacy for three reasons.

First—More Democrats are following the banner of Mr. Bryan than that of any other Democratic leader; or, in the lingo of the corner grocery, more Democratic flies stick to the Bryan sugar than to anybody else's sugar.

Second—There is no longer any reason for the Watterson Democrats to fight the Bryan Democrats, and therefore, Mr. Bryan having the greater number of Democrats sticking to him, he is the most available candidate to bring the largest possible number of Democrats together.

Third—The Bryan candidacy will ward off candidates who are able and willing to buy the Democratic nomination; or, in other words, Mr. Bryan would be a better candidate than others who have nothing to recommend them but boodle and brass bands.

In a race between Bryan and Roosevelt, who, Mr. Watterson thinks, is the inevitable candidate of the Republicans, the Colonel is sure that Bryan will win on account of the third term issue. But this is not an argument for Mr. Bryan, but an argument against Mr. Roosevelt. If the third term issue would defeat Mr. Roosevelt, any Democrat would serve the purpose as well as Mr. Bryan. There is no suggestion from Mr. Watterson that Mr. Bryan represents something more to be desired in a President than Mr. Roosevelt represents. There is no suggestion of a vital difference of principles and of a great advantage on the part of Mr. Bryan on account of that difference. Perhaps Col. Watterson thinks that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan practically represent the same thing. He does not testify on this point, but merely says that Bryan would beat Roosevelt on account of the third term issue.

But great political battles are not won by candidates chosen solely because they are available or have a large personal following. These considerations figure in political conventions, but are lost in the great struggle for the election.

The Colonel ought to cheer up and try to take a brighter view of Democratic politics. Things may not turn out so bad after all. An issue may turn up which Mr. Roosevelt has not stolen and which will be worth a Wattersonian yell.

The statement that no star can appear in the national flag for Oklahoma until after July 4, 1907, is misleading. The new star may not be placed on army flags, but every citizen with a flag can put it on as soon as he pleases.

TWELVE MILLIONS FOR NOISE.

George Fabyan was once the president of the Fourth of July Amusement Association, whose purpose was to educate Chicago up to the standard of a "sane Fourth."

Chicago refused to be educated and the Sane Fourth of July Association died several years ago. Mr. Fabyan survived it, however, and he publishes an estimate that $12,000,000 will about cover the cost of our explosiveness this year.

Well, perhaps we can afford to make a $12,000,000 noise if we like, or whether we like or not. But how many of the adults who promote explosiveness for patriotic purposes are willing to sit down after it is over and read the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States to find what it is all supposed to be about?

Gen. Miles spoke well when he said: "It was not the prayer of Washington that we should force our system of government upon another people, but that in time we would make it so glorious that others would seek our protection."

AMERICAN WOMEN AND ENGLISH HUSBANDS.

Lord Northcliffe, better known in this country as Sir Alfred Harmsworth, is a sociological student of rare penetration, but his observations are too exclusive.

"The American girl," he says, "likes our men better than she does the American; it is because he knows better how to treat her."

"The American girl"—that means the typical American girl. Has Lord Northcliffe ever met her?

Some American girls like British titles and buy them, taking the British men because they must. Does the noble lord imagine that the curious society known as the 400 is American society?

Lord Northcliffe says that "the American girl who through choice marries the American is so singularly rare that she needs be publicly commended for her noble act."

Evidently Lord Northcliffe thinks the only American girls are those he has seen in the house of mirth. What a pity he doesn't get acquainted with a few of the 12,000,000 American girls of marriageable age who don't live in that abode of title hunters.

Lord Northcliffe says the American husband makes money for his wife, but the English husband loves her—"adores, worships, lavishes his affection on her."

The American vice is making money—granted. The husbands make it, the wives spend it. But when an American girl's father buys a title for her, the English husband spends it. And a hot good time he has. But if the English husband lavishes his affection on his wife, what else does he do? He practices the national English vice of wife beating. He lavishes blows as well as affection.

The custom of wife beating, especially characteristic of the English. Under the old law—somewhat mitigated in recent years—the English wife had no rights. Her property became her husband's and he was expressly authorized to chastise her if he did not beat too hard. The proviso was inserted because, according to Blackstone, so great a favorite of the English law is the female sex.

The daughters of the house of mirth who have bought English titles with males appurtenant thereto have not in any case got the worth of their money. And many of them have come to grief. But real American women, women really representative of the American race on the distaff side, wisely prefer men to titles, men who make money as well as love, men who are vigorous ancestors, not degenerate descendants, men who never beat their wives.

If Lord Northcliffe would get acquainted with American women he wouldn't be so expansively funny. His elephantine humor makes us laugh at him, not with him. He is his own best joke. Notwithstanding his title, he is a strong man. And if he will stop trying to make jokes, American women may take him in hand and show him the force and beauty of womanhood at the highest stage of development.

Two billions a year for this, that and the other, but not a cent for the canal to connect the Mississippi and the Great Lakes. So much for the Fifty-ninth Congress.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Among questions not yet answered in connection with the Busch bill is the question of what St. Louis will have left to give in the way of terminals for future bridges, if it makes the almost incredible grants the bill proposes.

Another question is of the reason for making such grants. If they are for bridge approaches, where is the bridge? When is it to be built? Where is it to be built? Where and how can any other bridge secure approaches and terminals in actual reach of the business of St. Louis after this system has been created on paper by ordinance?

A bridge, merely discussed on paper and not yet located, even on paper, can be so supported by approaches and terminals on paper, with "Be It Ordained" printed over it, that the system will close up all that is left open in the city, as soon as it is completed on paper.

We are about to reach that point on paper, when investigation begins. So let us hear all about it. What does it mean?

"Trust to the appetite of a child," says Wiseacre Luther Burbank. But how are the preserves to hold out? Have adults no rights in the home?

NO MORE SECTIONALISM.

It is all very well for President Roosevelt to tell the people of New Mexico and Arizona that they make the best Rough Riders in the world and that as Rough Riders he loves them and wants them to come into the Union at once.

It will be very well also for the people of Arizona and New Mexico to come into the Union at once, if it suits them to come in at once rather than to stay out indefinitely.

The point is not of their virtues as Rough Riders or of the President's affection for them. It is that they are being treated now exactly as Kansas was treated when the "Lecompton Constitution" was submitted in 1858. This was called a crime against Kansas then, because it was arranged at Washington then, as now in the case of Arizona, that every citizen of Kansas who voted against that constitution, was compelled to vote in doing so to keep Kansas out of the Union.

If that was not a "square deal" then, it is not now. With Rhode Island and Delaware still on the map and represented in both Senate and electoral college, there was no ground, except sectional ground, for doubling up four territories into two states, merely because they were west of the Mississippi River.

It was sectionalism and nothing else. But the West is great enough to be able to stand it and smile at it. As far as the Transmississippi West is concerned, it can leave it wholly to the people of New Mexico and Arizona to decide by their own votes what they ought to do.

Let them leave out all sectional considerations. They are out of place between the Mississippi and the Pacific.

Congressman Brownlow, whose father was a minister, editor and governor, says "between he and I." And perhaps he says "haven't saw," too.

As the new government bonds will inflate the national bank currency, lower prices are to be again postponed.

THE NEWSPAPER AND THE PEOPLE.

Samuel Bowles in the North American Review.

The newspaper is, perhaps, the most important agent in modern life, and its honest and intelligent service is vital to progress. The community suffers when the individual neglects his civic duties, but when the newspaper is derelict or corrupt the effect is momentous. It must be absolutely devoted to public interests and stand for public enlightenment and welfare. Essential to the adequate fulfillment of its functions are honest art and genuine proportion in its construction. The newspaper maker on the one hand is a manufacturer, but on the other his work is like that of the learned professions, law, medicine, the ministry, and should be conducted in conformity to the standards which are supposed to rule in those callings.

The journalist has one client, one patient, one flock—that is to say, the whole community; and nothing should stand in the way of his single-minded and devoted service of that one common interest. He should beware of all entangling alliances—political, social, commercial—which may limit or embarrass such service. He should let the honors and emoluments of public office go to other people. His own office, if properly administered, is more important and powerful than any that his fellow citizens are likely to confer upon him. The independent newspaper may be and should be the most vital and effective instrument that democratic society can produce for its own advancement and protection; and its true business welfare, in the long view, lies in a complete, intelligent, sympathetic devotion to public interests.

CONGRESSIONAL OMISSIONS.

From the New York World.

Congress has adjourned, after a session of unexampled extravagance in expenditure, without attempting to reduce the tariff and the cost of living, without even trying to save an important foreign market in Germany for our goods. It will be strange if the stern logic of events does not soon force these homely topics upon attention.

WOMAN'S LOGIC.

How subtle is a woman's mind
In getting at the cause
Of things in which a man's inclined
To wonderment and pause!
In argument a woman draws
Upon her wit, and gets—Because!

No matter what the theme of it,
Nor what the hook or crook,
A woman knows the answer writ
Away back in the book.
Nor argument nor all the laws
Of logic conquer her Because.

Now while the sun is hot above
And we're oppressed with it,
Pray let us all avail us of
Fair woman's subtle wit.
The reason why, no matter what,
Is just because. It helps a lot.

What a fine thing is sentiment; but how very far a little of it goes.

Why is it the man always walks a little ahead after they're married?

If the Filipinos will look over our Fourth of July casualties and count the cost, perhaps they will not care to win their independence.

THE MORNING AFTER.

Justice to small boy: "You are charged with having discharged firearms."

"Yes, sir."

"Did you do it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Didn't you know it is wrong?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then why did you do it?"

"It had to be done."

"Had to be done?"

"Yes, sir."

"I don't understand."

"It was like this, your honor. I have an old revolver. For three years I have tried to violate the city ordinance with it, but it was so rusted about the cylinder that it wouldn't work."

"But it seems to have worked yesterday."

"No, strange to say, your honor, it refused to work for the fourth successive year."

"What are trying to say?"

"What I am getting at, your honor, is that when it persisted in its refusal to work, I discharged it."

There was a shriek of laughter in the courtroom, and the judge bit his lip and looked at the boy.

"Young man," he said, "how long would it take you to run a hundred yards?"

"Only a jiffy."

"Go!"

And he went.

Fifteen cops on the purser's chest,
Yo-ho-ho and a bottle of rum!

There will be plenty of Indians in Oklahoma politics.

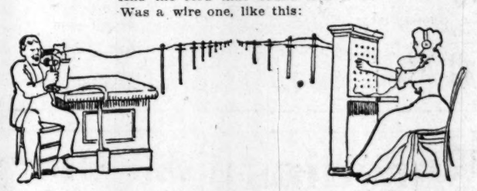
HERE'S YOURS.

Think of a number from 1 to 9; add 1 to it; multiply that by 9; strike out the left-hand figure of the result; add 14 to the number remaining; add the number you first thought of to that sum. That for you.

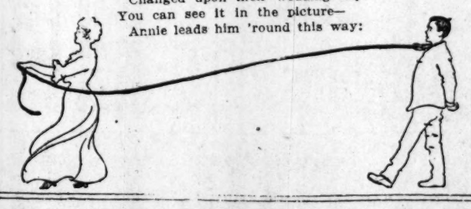
SWITCH BOARD SONG BY BARNES

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

ANNIE was the operator
At our branch exchange.
She preferred the work to cooking.
Over someone's kitchen range.
Paul was Annie's faithful "steady."
Well he loved that charming miss.
And the cord that bound him to her
Was a wire one, like this:



Time went by and gentle Annie
Left her board for good and all.
There was no more shouting "Number?"
After she had married Paul.
And the cord that binds him to her
Changed upon their wedding day.
You can see it in the picture—
Annie leads him 'round this way:



THE SLUMP IN THE MARRIAGE MARKET

By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

A GREAT many women write to newspapers for information as to the right method of keeping their husbands' love. Yet it is safe to say that the annals of no journal in the world contain record of any inquiry from a husband seeking similar enlightenment.

This fact alone should prove the greater constancy of womankind. But surely these wives do not appreciate their blessings! The great problem in cities is not how to keep a husband, but how to secure one. This they have solved, and so should rest entirely on their laurels and give the poor struggling spinsters the benefit of their experience and advice.

I know one good-looking woman over thirty whose days and nights and entire conversation are given to pondering the ways and means of getting a husband.

"City men are all sports," she murmured, sadly the other day. "And, besides, I don't seem to meet any."

To the listener this wail of the husbandless is funny. But to the woman who is frankly tired of making a living, and for whom the idea of a husband represents merely the solution of the weekly bills, it is a grim spectre that looks over her shoulder as the narrowing vista of old maidenhood opens before her.

Women may be young by themselves. But age loves—indeed, must have company. There is no spectacle more pitiful than that of an old man or an old woman, friendless, loveless, childless, tottering down the slope to death alone.

Surveying their isolation, one cannot help thinking that even a bad husband, a worthless wife, is better than none at all, and wishing that the wives who seek advice on keeping their husbands would instead tell the forlorn spinsters how they got them.

I really believe they would if they knew. But the mood that prompts man to matrimony is mysterious and compelling, and no man knoweth when it will come, no woman why. The best she can do is to recognize it and make the most of it before it flies.

It is a mood that haunts country lanes and hillsides and languishes in the cities year after year. The age of city matrimony grows, the number of bachelors and spinsters increases.

After a while the task of a new prophet may be that of finding ten marrying men within its precincts that the vengeance of Heaven may not be visited upon it—that is, unless the complaining married women cease complaining long enough to tell how they did it and put new life into the sagging market of matrimony.

ON THE SUBURBAN TRAIN

The Commuters Pull Off a Successful Speed Experiment, and They Crack Some Old Chestnuts in the Smoker.

Written for the Post-Dispatch

"I SEE the passenger train wrecked in England the other night was running 70 miles an hour," said the Insurance Man, looking up from his morning paper.

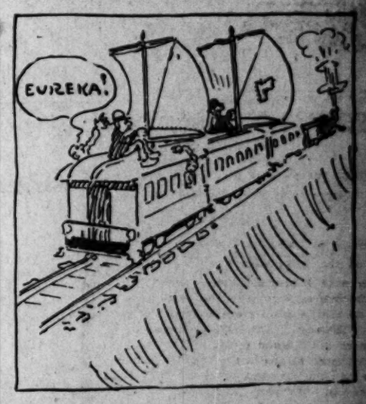
"We're awful safe on this train," said the Boss Printer.

The Brakeman came in with the Chesley Island Stogies, and the train wobbled out of the yards and into the golden fields. It had scarce passed the city limits when the speed became such that the commuters began to wonder. Investigation led to the discovery that the Wholesale Druggist and the Steamboat Man had rigged up a couple of sails on top. They were both bellying nicely, and the train was bowling along at a rate which made the engineer hold his hat.

There was a cheer from the windows, and the passengers in the smoker began telling train stories.

"This innovation reminds me of Mark Twain's slow train story," said the Insurance Man. "Mark was on a train up in Iowa. It loafed along like a messenger boy. Finally Mark said to the Brakeman:

"I wish you would take the cowcatcher off the engine and put it on behind."



"What for?" asked the Conductor.

"Because," said Mark, "the first thing we know a cow will run this train down and bite somebody."

"Bret Harte used to tell one," said the Railroad Man. "He was out on a lecture tour. The train was killing time like a hired man, and Bret kicked.

"You can walk if you like," said the Conductor.

"But I don't want to walk," said Bret.

"Why not?"

"Because there is a reception committee awaiting me at Sioux City, and I don't want to get in there before I'm expected."

The train rocked like a dory in the breakers, and the X-Mayor said:

"This reminds me of an old story up on the Bluff Line. The road used to be pretty rough in those days, and most of the passengers carried a shawl strap and strapped themselves in their seats. One day the train was bucking along in the usual way when it suddenly began running as smooth as if she might have hit a good piece of track. The passengers looked around in amazement, and the Brakeman, who was dozing in a seat, woke with a start, leaped up, and dashed down the aisle shouting:

"Everybody jump! She's off the track!"

The sails helped some, and the train got in 10 minutes ahead of time. The Brakeman was jubilant, and there was a cheery ring in his voice as he sang out:

"St. Louis!"

ANSWERS to Post-Dispatch READERS

RULES—One question; one initial. No business addresses given. No bets. Only simple legal questions. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch; postal cards if convenient.

THANKFUL—See answer of last Sunday.

R. P. H.—You might write to some correspondence school.

TAYLOR.—See answer to S. H. C. for reducing superfluous flesh.

F. S. P.—March 2, 1856, Sunday. You were born under the sign of Pisces.

READER.—Cutter, $25 to $50 per week. Coatmaker gets $9 to $18 for each coat.

TAXPAYER.—Special officers are patrolmen and get patrolman's pay—$80 a month.

LULU.—You need not say anything on presenting a birthday gift. It speaks for itself.

H.—There is no law requiring an employer to pay an employe for time spent in voting.

P. B.—Write Commissioner of Patents, Washington, D. C., for full patent information.

P. G.—First Ward is in Tenth Congressional District; Representative, Richard Bartholdt.

J. L.—Put your question to a lawyer, who can question you and get all the points in the case.

LANGE.—Get full information as to employment of teachers at Board of Education offices, 911 Locust.

F. D. J.—Result of baseball contest was published in night edition of the Post-Dispatch of Tuesday, July 3.

J. D.—Post-Dispatch pays for exceptionally bright and humorous contributions. Much of what we receive is not available.

KUECHLE.—We do not understand that the new naturalization law applies to those who have already taken out first papers.

HARRY.—A year after receiving first papers you can vote in Missouri. No witnesses are required for declaration of intention.

MARY ANN.—If some reader will write us what will preserve beet juice so that it will be a harmless rouge we will publish the information.

C.—Gift for lawyer, a year's subscription to the Green Bag, Boston. A classier present would be the new edition of Bouvier's Law Dictionary.

J. B.—Any debt can be garnisheed. The Post-Dispatch has repeatedly warned its readers that an agreement between landlord and tenant should always be in writing.

CONTINENTAL.—Conductor G. B. Newland writes: "Keifer's Creek empties into the Meramec about 50 yards west of Fern Glen station, on the Missouri Pacific Railway."

H. D.—A woman might obtain employment as proof reader in some nonunion printing office. The proof readers of the St. Louis daily papers are printers and are members of the Typographical Union.

IRIS.—A composition for plasters is made of 36 parts Burgundy or Canada pitch mixed with 10 parts yellow wax and melted together. Glue mixed with glycerine equal to one-tenth the weight of the dry glue may be used.

A. S. F.—Dago is slang, applied to dark-skinned foreigners, especially Italians, Spanish and Portuguese. It comes from Diego. Sheeny is slang for Jew. One etymology identifies the word with Shin, the initial Hebrew letter in Shakinal, Shaddai, etc., and makes the original application honorable.

MOONEY.—Theoretically your proposition about the dog on Brooklyn Bridge destroying the structure by an incessant trot is correct, but practically it could not be carried out, owing to the dog's insignificant weight. A long column of soldiers marching across a suspension bridge is ordered to "break step" so as to avoid vibration.

S. H. C.—To remove fat from the face: Massage, employing the heavy stroke, and electricity are necessary to remove superfluous flesh. At the same time a astringent lotion may be used to good effect to keep the stretched skin from wrinkling. Equal parts of listerine and Pond's extract of hamamelis makes an excellent application for this purpose. Its tonic properties can be still further increased by adding a dram of quinine (the alkaloid) to eight ounces of the mixture.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

This column is open for discussion of public questions. Letters should not exceed 150 words.

Bad Boys.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Is there not a law to punish those little vagabonds (our boys), who, every time they see an animal on the street, be it a dog, a cat or even a chicken, they can't control their mean, cruel instinct, but pick up stones and try to kill them? Is it any wonder that, sometimes they get bitten? Indeed, even a mad dog would not bite if let alone. But our boys can't let alone even old people, especially if these are strangers.

What we need for the safety of the children is, not the destruction of dogs, but a better fundamental education for our boys, because they are nothing else but mean and cruel. A. T.

Personal Liberty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Last Tuesday evening, as the writer was passing along the street, he was horrified to see a man lying in a saloon door with his face upon the stone, wallowing in his own blood. A closer look revealed two very ugly wounds, one on the top of the head and the other on the left temple. It was a saloon affair. This young man, beaten and cut into such a terrible shape, was no doubt enjoying the fruits of his "personal liberty" so many people prate about. Surely the good sense and honest voting of the St. Louis people will not tolerate this sort of thing any day in the week.

A LOVER OF GOOD LAWS.

Who Can Answer?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My family comprises my wife, four children, between 8 and 18, and myself, six persons. We do not use tobacco in any form; we do not indulge in whisky, wines or beer; our clothing does not include imported stuffs; our food, excepting a little coffee and less tea, is American grown. We own our own home in this city, but taxes on it go only for municipal or State uses. Although we pay no rent, the annual expense of the family is over $2500. In number of members and in cost of living our family is about the average. Now, please tell us how and to what extent we contribute towards the maintenance of the national Government other than when we buy postage stamps, a little coffee and less tea? G. LEWIS.

Undesirable Immigrants.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I wish to call attention to a statement made in your editorial, under the caption, "Fifty Greeks," which I believe is partly erroneous and somewhat misleading. You state at the close of the editorial that Greece has been the home of sculpture, painting and literature and that the United States, in receiving this element into its already composite make-up will thereby be adding an element which will make for those same arts. Would that it might be true, but unfortunately the modern Greek is not, in the strict sense, the inheritor of the traditions of classic Greece. Ever since the capture of Constantinople in 1453 the Turk has been present in Europe and the native population of Greece has been to a large extent, especially among the lower classes, mixed with this blood.

J. J. LEWIS.

New Ratings.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the United Railways Co. has absorbed the Suburban system, permit me to call the attention of the city authorities and Civic Improvement Association to the desirability of removing the tracks on Locust street from Thirteenth street east. If this can be done, a driveway will be secured free from tracks from Grand avenue to the new library, and thence east to Sixth street.

Suburban cars could be sent down Morgan street or Washington avenue; Maplewood cars could be routed east on Laclede from Sarah street, shortening time to suburban points.

PROPERTY RIGHTS OF ORIENTAL WOMEN

Though Her Status Is Nothing Like So Desirable as That of Her Western Sister, the Mohammedan Woman Enjoys Property Rights Beyond Those of Any Other Part of the World.

George S. Hatcheller, Associate Justice of the International Court of Appeals, at Alexandria, Egypt, contributes an interesting article to the July number of the North American Review on the "Relative Property Rights of Women in Mohammedan Countries." In contrast to the lateness and tardiness of the recognition of women's rights in Western countries, Judge Hatcheller points to the fact that women's rights in respect to property and material possessions of pecuniary value have prevailed in the largest sense among Mohammedan people for many centuries. Whether single or married, Mohammedan women are absolutely free in respect to property relations. They may inherit, buy and sell and acquire by all the methods of legitimate business just as men can, and they may carry on any trade or profession and manage their business affairs without the participation of husbands, parents, brothers or other persons than themselves or any agent whom they may designate. Justice Hatcheller says:

"It is not the policy or general practice for heirs to sell their heritage; and, as the patriarchal system prevails, the oldest capable male member of the family is usually authorized to administer the succession and distribute the revenues according to the legal proportions. It frequently happens that by a partition—and any heir may demand the setting apart of his or her inheritance—a single room in a house will fall to an heir, who thereby acquires and absolute title, with right of access, although the remainder of the house may eventually be owned by strangers; or a single klerat of land, situated in a large tract belonging to others, may be owned by a poor woman who has the right of way and irrigation privileges the same as the greater proprietor. Many legal actions are brought by women for the maintenance of their rights often violated by the larger adjoining proprietors. Quite recently, an action was maintained in the Mixed Courts by a woman, whose single room, on the third floor, was damaged by the giving way of supporting wall in a store on the ground floor, through the fault of the owner, a foreigner."

THE PLEASURES OF PESSIMISM.

By Roy L. McCardell.

NOW while the weather is warm and the irritations of the Complex Life are augmented by our old foe, General Humidity, consider the pleasures of those temperamentally trained to live without fear and without hope.

Optimism is only exaltation, and the higher our fancies climb the further they have to fall back.

Beware of the mirage of good times to come. Holding on to Hope too tight we find it changes to disappointment under the pressure of our grasp.

It is better to expect nothing and be agreeably surprised than to set our hearts on things that are not to be.

The ring at the door that we think is the call of Maecenas to take us out to dinner is generally the bill collector who doesn't care how loud he talks.

And yet how we ever run to answer the bell! We wait impatient when the letter carrier is late, but the mail brings nothing but circulars from those who would sell us something or hard luck letters from home. And yet we ever await the mail.

The mysterious stranger who will not state his name or business is never the announcer of the fact that we have fallen heir to a fortune. We walk into his arms and he serves us with a subpena.

The ringing of the telephone bell is only the call of a pest of too many varieties to describe.

Out of 10,000 unpleasant letters one comes with good news; out of a myriad of callers one-tenth of 1 per cent means something good for you, the rest are calling for something good for themselves. How much better to have no address and so have neither callers nor correspondence, no telephone and no time wasting words by wire!

Always does beguiling Hope bring us to the door in the thought that some one has driven up in an auto with a million dollars, when it is only the gas man with the notice that if the bill isn't paid in three days the company will take out the meter.

Without Fear and without Hope, believe us 'tis best.

We had a friend once who got along splendidly on the theory that every one he met was a scoundrel. If they were, he was guarded against them; if they were not, how pleasant to find he was mistaken!

Without Fear and without Hope! That is something more sensible than over-deluding Optimism. Without fear, we care not what comes; without hope, what chagrin can we feel when we expected nothing?

Those who pass up the chances of today for the gifts to be given tomorrow are like unto those who depend upon "something to turn up." Lo, they walk forth and step upon a hoop!

Wise men make more opportunities than they find. What you do for yourself will be well done; what you expect others to do for you will not be done at all.

Without Fear and without Hope! Happy in what you have and building not upon what you expect; for those who expect nothing get something, and those who expect everything get nothing, for the Gods of Good Fortune love best those who despise them!

Added Letter Puzzle.

By adding a certain letter, change a metal into sarcasm; a servant into a sewer; to study into a small animal; contest into cautious; a metal into diminutive; a title into betimes; learned into willing; the skin of wild animals into rage; a festival into a fray; a kind of oak into to inter.

Put not your trust in princes. Put it in New Jersey where the conditions are more liberal.—Puck.

Within the fort the commandant laughed;
With —— he filled his cup,
And took a vow, as deep he quaffed,
"Nay, yonder flag stays up!

"We will not yield, altho' bereft
Of food, mayhap; and tho'
To clothe us there's but —— cloth left,
We'll still withstand the foe."

They held the fort till many a day
And week and month rolled by.
The baffled foeman marched away
And left the flag on high.

By the seashore me you'll find;
Sometimes your faithful steed and kind;
In the forest I am seen.
Tall and stately, fresh and green;
Where pursuit of hunter ends,
And the stag his life defends.

And sometimes of talk I am weary:
Sometimes I am pierced through with iron or wood,
And now can you guess me, my deary?

JUST JOKES

A Hindoo father, says the Pioneer, recently received the following letter, asking for the hand of his daughter:

"Dear Sir: It is with a flattering penmanship that I write to have communication with you about the prospective condition of your damsel offspring. For some remote time to past, a secret passion has firing my bosom internally with loving for your daughter. I have navigated every channel in the magnitude of my extensive jurisdiction to cruelly smother the growing loveknot that is being constructed in my within side, but the humid lamp of affection still nourishes my love sickened heart. Hoping that you will concordantly corroborate in espousing your female progeny to my tender bosom and thereby acquire me into your family circle, your dutiful son-in-law."

Editor: I'll do better than that. I'll omit the whole poem.—Somerville Journal.

Decision Against the Home Team.

"Oh, papa! The umpire is putting on a mask!"

"Yes, my son; no wonder he wants to hide his face after that last rank decision."

Logical.

Mrs. Nulywed: You don't love me any more—I know you don't!

Nulywed: But, my dear, you're mistaken. I adore you.

"No, you don't! No man could love a woman so badly dressed as I am."—Le Rire.

A Big One.

Mrs. Crimsonbeak: Well, if you caught such a big fish as you say, why didn't you bring it home?

Mr. Crimsonbeak: What was the use? I couldn't have got it into this little flat!

An Interpretation.

GLEN ECHO AFTER NATIONAL AMATEURS

President McGrew of the Big St. Louis Club Goes East in the Interests of the Western Golf Championship and May Ask for the Open Amateur Event in 1907.

President McGrew of the Glen Echo Golf Club will leave Friday night for Englewood, N. J., where the amateur golf championships of the United States will begin on Monday. Col. McGrew proceeds East in the interest of the Western amateur golf championship, which will be held at Glen Echo in September. He will endeavor to induce as many Easterners as possible to come West and play in the big event. This is his chief and announced motive.

It is, however, understood that the energetic and far-seeing president of Glen Echo will advance the claims of St. Louis and his club to the national championship for 1907. It has been the custom to hold the championships East and West in alternate years, generally at Chicago and in the immediate neighborhood of New York. This will be the first time in the history of golf that any Western city, outside of Chicago, has asked for the great national event.

Col. McGrew believes in taking time by the forelock. He worked for the Western championship a year ahead and got it. There is scarcely a doubt of his success in the national event, either. He has earned the undying friendship of Chicago golfers by his clean and sportsmanlike use of his power on certain occasions and they will be for him to a man. Col. McGrew also enjoys the friendship of the golfers of the West and Northwest, within the limits of the Transmississippi territory, hence, with the entire West for him, it is not easy to see just how he can miss.

It may be that the championship of 1907 will be held in the East. The weight of golf population is in that section and there has been a general clamor for two years' play along the Atlantic litteral to one along the Mississippi. While this clamor has not yet succeeded in diverting the governors of golf from their ancient habit of alternate years East and West, it has reached a climax this year. However, golf governors are notoriously set in their ways and slow to consider change, hence it is most likely that the championship will come this way in 1907.

RAVENS INVADE EFFETE EAST

McAleer Team Completes Its Western Trip With a Victory at Detroit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., July 6.—Beginning Saturday the Ravens inaugurate their second invasion of the East at New York by playing the initial game of a series of four with the Highlanders. The trip will practically decide what position the Ravens are to occupy in the race and will probably be the most important of the season.

At present the Ravens are holding down sixth position, 123 points behind the leaders, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington are to be visited in the order named and the result of these games will be scanned with unusual interest.

Thursday's game was closely contested, St. Louis winning 5 to 4.

Glade and Siever were the opposing pitchers. The Grand Island boy twirled clever ball for the Ravens with the exception of the fifth inning, when he was hit for five singles for a total of four runs, after two men were out.

Those four runs tied up the game until the sixth, when the Ravens got one when O'Brien took first on Lowe's fumble. Koehler hit to Lindsay, who tried to catch the fleeing Irishman at second. His throw was wild and scampered through Lowe to left field, O'Brien taking third. Hartzell's long fly tallied the winning run.

HOSTETTER HELPS WITH USEFUL HIT

Utility Pitcher Wins Game for Cardinals With a Timely Single.

Hostetter put a quietus on the hopes of Cincinnati and a practical end to Thursday's game at League Park when he singled in the eighth inning, scoring Smoot.

Four to three was the final score and Wicker and Druhot and Egan were the opposing pitchers.

The Reds tried all the possible baseball maneuvers to get away with the game, but their weak stick work at critical times was too prominent.

They started well enough by getting three in the first off Egan. Seymour slammed one under the bulletin board for a home run. Lobert singled and stole. Odwell got a scratch and stole. Schlei singled, scoring both runners. That was about all for Egan and Druhot relieved him, the Reds failing to tally another run.

In the first St. Louis got two when Corcoran dropped Noonan's pop, permitting Shannon and Smoot to score.

Grady grabbed one of Wicker's wide curves in the sixth and sent it scampering over into the laps of the spectators in the right center seats.

In the eighth Smoot singled and Noonan sacrificed. Then came Hostetter's single.

RIPPLES of the Ring

Schreck and Tommy Burns will not be fought at Terre Haute, Ind., July 13, but, instead, will come off at Seattle, Wash., where they have been offered a guaranteed purse of $3500 to battle July 19.

If "Spike" Robson, the English lightweight, is willing to fight Terry McGovern a six-round bout in the Quaker City, and a suitable incentive is offered by the matchmaker of the National A. C., the bout may come off. Joe Humphreys, McGovern's manager, announced last night that he will let Terry box the Englishman as soon as he receives an offer that will make it worth while for McGovern to get into condition for the battle.

Battling Nelson and Kid Herman of Chicago will fight at Oakland, Cal., the afternoon of Sept. 10. Morris Levy will leave for the East in a day or two to complete arrangements for the battle.

The matchmaker of the Olympic A. C. of Grand Rapids, Mich., is so anxious to bring off a fight at his club between Kid Herman and Benny Yanger, the Chicago fighters, that he has offered them 60 per cent of the gross receipts to battle a 10-round bout. Yanger has already accepted the offer, and it is expected that Herman will follow suit.

Matchmaker McCarey of the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles, Cal., has notified Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Sam Berger that he will offer a big purse to battle a 20-round bout before his club on July 20 if their contest does not take place in Philadelphia.

Constable Andrew Sheridan claims he has a world beater in Andrew McCarthy, a boxer who is willing to accommodate Carol Cain or Harry Trendali at 118 pounds at 3 p. m.

TOPICS of the Turf

Minnie Adams, winner of the City Park Derby and other good races, will be turned out until the fall. Her owner thinks she has staled since leaving the West and will give her a rest to prepare her for the fall campaign at the Metropolitan tracks. He regards her as good a filly as Whimsical.

The crack 3-year-old Whimsical is said to have let down behind recently, and it is doubtful if she will go in the Advance Stakes Saturday. If she is brought around all right by that time she will have to meet the Western colt Sir Huon, as George E. Long, the latter's owner, says that that race will be the one in which the Kentucky Derby winner will make his Eastern debut.

It is said that John W. Rodgers may leave the employ of Harry Payne Whitney shortly. Rodgers is one of the wealthiest trainers in the country. He is reputed to be worth $500,000, and has a salary of $10,000 a year and 10 per cent of the winnings of the Whitney stables. He has been training the Whitney horses for many years.

Jockey Leroy Rogan, who, while riding the horse Balzac in a steeplechase, fell at one of the jumps and fractured his skull, escaped from the Reception Hospital at Coney Island a few nights ago and ran several yards before he was caught. He was taken back to the hospital, where he now lies in a critical condition.

He climbed down a fire escape dressed only in pajamas. A policeman saw him running and gave chase. The little jockey was so weak from illness and delirium that he was easily caught, and in a rambling way told the policeman that he was trying to catch Balzac to remount and finish the race.

Carroll Reid has got The Picket to going soundly again and hopes to start him in the Advance Saturday.

THEY NOTHING DID IN CASE OF TIDD

Stephens and McCargo of the Investigating Committee Take Opposing Views.

There promises to be a hot time at the Missouri Athletic Club Friday night when the members of the Board of Governors of the A. A. U. assemble in Parlor C for the consideration of the Tidd case and for the purpose of awarding the Western A. A. U. championships.

The presumption that torrid conditions will obtain at the conference is deduced from the strained state of relations existing between Chairman Wallace McCargo and Charles F. Stephens of the Registration Committee as a result of a meeting called by these gentlemen for Thursday night to examine witnesses in the Tidd case.

Norsch, a Y. M. C. A. boy; Alex Skinker of Washington University and Charles Brehmann of the M. A. C. were all examined and heard and Stephens and McCargo retired to consider the evidence submitted.

Stephens is said to have told McCargo that Keenan Shock, M. A. C., and Dan Dillon, W. U., would have to be heard before he would agree on any report to the Board of Governors Friday night.

It is alleged that McCargo, then impatient and irritated, replied that Stephens was prejudiced against Tidd because the latter was a member of the M. A. C., and that he was trying to stir up trouble; that the evidence in the case was all in; that three postponements had been taken at the request of Stephens; that no evidence had been shown to prove that Tidd did not start from the three-yard mark, and that the frequent promises of Stephens to do something had simmered out into thin air.

Stephens told McCargo that he had evidence to prove that Tidd did not start from the three-yard mark and that the gentlemen who bore testimony to the fact that he did were guilty of prevarication.

An effort will be made to dispose of the case finally Friday night, as A. A. U. officials say it has been held over long enough and that it has assumed more importance than it deserved.

DOUBLES FINALS ON TENNIS COURTS

Connett and Anderson Will Meet McKittrick and Wear in Challenge Round.

Billy Connett and Byron Anderson, who defeated D. L. James and H. V. Jones of Kansas City in the final round in doubles in the State tennis tournament at the Triple A courts in Forest Park Thursday, will meet Joe Wear and Ralph McKittrick in a challenge round Friday afternoon for the title of State champions in doubles.

Orrie Vernon and D. L. James, the sole survivors of the week's play in singles, will play Friday afternoon for the honor of meeting Ralph McKittrick in a challenge round Saturday for the State championship.

Both men are clever, capable exponents of the racquet game and the match should be closely contested, with form, experience and advance handicapping favoring Vernon as the probable winner.

Byron Anderson and William Connett defeated D. L. James and H. V. Jones in the final round of doubles Thursday afternoon, 2-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 9-7.

The match was probably the most sensational that has been played at the Triple A courts during the progress of the tournament. After Jones and James had taken the first two sets, there did not seem to be the slightest chance for the St. Louis players. But right there they came back with an exhibition of nerve, pluck and skill that has been seldom excelled on local courts.

Anderson improved wonderfully in his lobbing and Connett's smashing service seemed to nonpluss the Kansas City experts, who fell down woefully in the third set.

In the fourth and fifth sets, Connett and Anderson demonstrated their superiority very thoroughly and had little difficulty in winning.

THE SPORTSMAN'S NICHE

It seems rather a pity that nature formed but one such golfer in St. Louis and broke the mold in casting Gen. McGrew. Here, with the amateur golf championships of the United States upon us, we find that the president of Glen Echo, who, alas, is beyond the playing age, the oniest golfer in St. Louis to make the trip to Englewood, N. J., where the championship will be played next week. Gen. McGrew goes not to play, but to promote golf in St. Louis.

Every now and then golfers of St. Louis will say to me, "Why does not the Post-Dispatch pay more attention to golf—give it more space and time and attention?" To this I can make but one answer. It is, "Why do not the golfers of St. Louis give the Post-Dispatch an excuse to do these things?"

But they never do. Whereas Chicago and Kansas City and Memphis and Little Rock and Springfield, and hundreds of bush towns will send men to Englewood, St. Louis sends not one player. Not one.

Golf is the game of well-to-do men. Surely those of St. Louis can afford the time—for these do be vacation days—the inclination for is it not at the seashore and the money. Indeed I would be glad to know of any excuse, save cold indifference, that keeps St. Louis from sending six or seven golfers to this tournament.

On July 4 it was my personal desire to please myself by seeing a two-ball foursome at Glen Echo. But work has to be done and though I was not at all interested in the tennis tournament at the Triple A I was obliged to deem its report more of public importance than the two-ball foursome. Hence I was obliged to see it much against my will and neglect the foursome, which was very much to my liking.

This will not do. St. Louis golfers must do something for themselves if they would deserve assistance. They must know the old axiom about heaven and those who help themselves.

And those dear Belgians.

Nay, nay, Mr. Gould, you cannot stick us for any tolls on your McGraw-McAleer stories.

Yea, Cassius, we had rather lost one hundred thousand men than that they should have beaten Miss May Sutto bless her fair face and brave litt heart.

So McGraw, who won the world championship, is to lose his job a McAleer, who was last in the race, to get it. Verily this is practical appl cation of the Biblical parable.

This Tidd case which is creating suc a fuss in local amateur athletic circles seems to be a good deal of a joke. Tidd, a runner, was supposed to start from the three-yard mark in a 440. The clerk of the course, Sardine Smith, says that he placed Tidd on this three-yard mark. L. D. Cabanne and others said he started from this mark. Gentlemen named Norsh, Aitken, Skinker and Drehmann were sure that he did not start from that mark. The result of it all was that Referee O'Connor disqualified Tidd. The runner appealed the case.

To my mind there is only one competent witness in this case—the clerk of the course. Just what this spectator or that, or this competitor or that, may say, seems to me to be of little importance. The clerk of the course is the responsible official. He places the men on their marks. If they steal on him he is responsible.

So it is that what Smith says, shou go in this case.

I can hardly believe that if Smi put Tidd on his proper mark he sto another. Where was Douglass, the Ka sas City man, who was on scratch Asleep or dead or in with it? As a rule competitors in a race are ke to watch dangerous opponents. Tidd was a dangerous man.

Naturally Douglas, who was within three yards of him, should watch hi If he stole an inch it is to be b lieved that Douglas would call atte tion to it. Then there were other m in the race. Does any sane man thi that a 20-yard man will stand st and allow a three-yard man to sta with him? It may be the fashion no adays, but not when I was a boy.

The A. A. U. is making a sad mes of this case. It should have been se tled in 20 minutes. It has taken weeks, involved clubs and disgust everyone interested in amateur athletic

Baseball Babble

There will not be any game at League Park this afternoon, today being an open date in the schedule. The series with Cincinnati will be resumed Saturday.

Smoot is finding the ball. He made two nice hits off Wicker.

Noonan, the Cardinals' new man, got a hit. The big fellow accepted 14 chances in a faultless fashion.

Burch showed how fast he is when he beat out a grounder to Corcoran.

Hogg of the Highlanders struck out nine Bostonians, who made but five hits.

Koehler, who has been filling O'Brien's shoes, made two nice hits.

Large occurrences at League Park yesterday. Two home-run drives. It seems that Grady is now getting his eye on the ball.

Affairs are as lively as one could wish in the American League. Only six points separate the leaders and third.

The Cardinals moved into sixth place yesterday by beating Cincinnati and Brooklyn's loss to Philadelphia.

Chase of the Highlanders made three hits in four trips to the plate yesterday.

Reulbach of the Cubs, who beat the Pirates, had six chances, which he handled in perfect style.

Hartzell hit nicely on Thursday. He made three hits in four times up.

Manager McCloskey is after the services of First Baseman Jack Barry of the Reds. Hanlen offered Barry to McCloskey in exchange for Arndt, but the Cardinal manager laughed. McCloskey said Friday morning that he was anxious to obtain the first sacker and that he hoped to arrange some kind of a trade whereby the Red would become a Cardinal.

Benny Meyers, the Trolley League graduate now playing the outfield for the Dallas nine of the South Texas League, will probably become a Cardinal within the next week. McCloskey saw the youngster playing in the South and is anxious to give him a trial.

Athletic Atoms

Members of the M. A. C. boxing squad are complaining that Swimming Instructor John C. Meyers will not allow them to swim and disport themselves gratis in the pool, as was the custom of Instructor Meffert. "Meyers is arbitrary and has absolutely no conception of courtesy," said one of the boxers.

Meyers makes no denial of his refusal of privileges of the pool to boxers. "I am conducting the swimming department on a business basis," said Meyers, "and the boxers will have to pay for their baths just the same as anyone else."

It seems as if Bassett of the M. A. C. overlooked a point when he did not secure Archie Loud for the Cherry Diamond track team. The McKinley youngster seems to be without doubt the fastest boy in the city, and Dr. Wingert of the Y. M. C. A. was not slow to annex him for the Grand avenue institution's squad.

Gwynne Evans, captain of the M. A. C. track team, suffered last week from a severe attack of malaria. He had not recovered from the effects of the ailment when he competed in the Scottish Clans games.

CLAN-NA-GAELS STILL ON DECK.

BOSTON, July 5.—Officials of the Clan-Na-Gael organization of Massachusetts announced last night that Dennis Mahoney exceeded the world's record in throwing the 56-pound weight at the annual field day of the society in Revere yesterday. Mahoney threw the weight Irish style, with one hand after an unlimited run, a distance of 39 feet 9½ inches. In 1903 J. S. Mitchell threw the 56-pound weight 38 feet 8 inches.

Kept in Cornfield While Diners Grow Frigid.

After being delayed five hours in a cornfield when the trucks of the tender jumped the track on a curve near Trumbull, Ill., 200 passengers on a Louisville & Nashville train reached Union Station early Friday, and crowded near-by restaurants to order the dinner which they had expected to take in St. Louis at 7:20 Thursday evening.

The train was delayed by the accident until another engine could be sent from Evansville.

Dougherty to Play Out Season.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 6.—Pat Dougherty, the outfielder, one of the Lancaster Tristate League team's strongest men, left on Saturday for New York to talk with Clark Griffith, to learn if he is to be sold. A letter was received this morning by the management of the local team stating that he had learned there was nothing in the sale story, and he will return to Lancaster tomorrow and play out the season. The news gives great satisfaction just now, when the team could ill afford to lose one of its best men.

THE S. S. S. STANDARD TONIC

The ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, and the method of combining and preparing them so that they gently and pleasantly build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the ideal tonic for a disordered condition of the system. Every one feels the need of a tonic sometimes. The system seems to get "out of gear," the appetite becomes fickle, the energies are depressed, sleep is not restful or refreshing, and the entire body has a nervous, worn-out feeling. When the system is in this depleted, run-down condition it must be aided by a tonic, and S. S. S. is recognized everywhere as the standard. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks selected for their gentle action as well as their invigorating effect on the system, it will not disagreeably affect any of the delicate members or tissues as do most of the so-called tonics on the market which contain potash or some other harmful mineral ingredient. These derange the stomach and digestion, unfavorably affect the bowels or otherwise damage the health. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, improves the appetite, produces refreshing sleep, rids the body of that tired, run-down feeling, and supplies tone and vigor to the entire system. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, acts more promptly and gives better and more lasting results than any other tonic and because of its vegetable purity is an absolutely safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. acts admirably in cases of dyspepsia, indigestion and other stomach troubles, and after using it that uncomfortable feeling of fullness, dizziness or drowsiness, after eating, are no longer felt. Not only is S. S. S. the greatest of all tonics but possesses purifying and alterative properties, and if there is a taint in the blood it will promptly remove every trace and restore perfect health. In selecting your tonic for this year do not experiment but get S. S. S., the recognized standard

WARRANTS FOR HARTJE, FRIEND AND COACHMAN

Charge Against Millionaire Is Conspiracy to Ruin Wife's Reputation.

PERJURER IS IN JAIL

Negro Co-Respondent In Divorce Suit Admitted He Swore Falsely.

SENSATION EVERY DAY

Person Alleged to Have Forged Love Letters Will Furnish Next One.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 6.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Augustus Hartje, libellant in the Hartje divorce case now being tried in this city; John L. Welshons, president of the Farrar-Welshon Hardware Co. at 6020 Pennsylvania avenue, East End, and Clifford Hooe, the negro co-respondent first named by Hartje in the divorce proceedings and who is now in Jail awaiting trial on an indictment for perjury.

Information charges them with conspiracy to destroy the name and reputation of Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje, wife of Augustus Hartje.

The warrants came as a tremendous sensation, following a demand by J. Scott Ferguson, attorney for Hartje, that First Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb be excluded from the courtroom on the ground that he was intimidating witnesses. Judge Frazer declined to bar Robb.

Informations against these three men had been made so long ago as April 18, but at the request of the Court further action had been delayed until the trial of the divorce case.

Hooe was formerly employed by Hartje, having entered his employ some time in 1903. He was discharged in 1904 for drunkenness. After that Thomas Madine, the white coachman whom Hartje now accuses of intimacy with his wife, became coachman at the Hartje establishment.

Hooe, after his discharge from Hartje, was employed at different jobs. Last summer, after Mrs. Hartje left her husband's house and the divorce suit was decided upon, he was employed by an East End contractor driving a dirt wagon. In this position he was found by Welshons, who is a friend of Hartje. Welshons offered him a position in his hardware store as a porter and the negro accepted. He remained there until on or about Oct. 26, 1906.

While in Welshons' employ Hooe made a statement that he had been intimate with Mrs. Hartje. This statement was secured, it is alleged, after Welshons had had many talks with Hooe, explaining to him that he would be well taken care of if he would tell the story and help Hartje get his divorce. The negro was finally given $100 when he made a statement to Welshons and Edward Hartje, brother of Augustus Hartje.

Hooe was advised to leave the city by Hartje's attorneys, but before he left they asked the Court for an order to take his testimony as an outgoing witness. The order was issued Oct. 26 last, and that afternoon his deposition was taken in Edward Hartje's office. Edward Hartje is an attorney. There were present, besides J. Scott Ferguson and W. J. Rodgers, representing Hartje, Mrs. Hartje, her father, John P. Scott, and John Freeman, attorney for Mrs. Hartje. The statement made by Hooe was most revolting, and has never been made public on that account.

Confessed to Perjury.

Hooe left the city that night. Detectives employed by Mrs. Hartje traced him to New Jersey, thence to Maryland, then into West Virginia, then to Ohio, where he was finally arrested in East Liverpool. He returned with the detectives to Pittsburg and was taken before Alderman King on a charge of perjury. He pleaded guilty and was held for court in $10,000 bail. He was taken before the grand jury and again pleaded guilty, and was remanded for trial. He now asks that his case be called that he may plead guilty and begin serving his sentence.

Hartje's attorneys made desperate efforts to secure the release of the negro, and applied to the Court for a writ of habeas corpus. These efforts would probably have been successful had it not been for District Attorney Robb, who walked into court unexpectedly during a hearing of the case and announced to the Court that back of the Hooe and Hartje cases was one of the most gigantic conspiracies in the history of the courts.

Judge Frazer at once returned Hooe to his cell. He has been in jail since Feb. 26, the libellant in the case having successfully fought off his trial until after the trial of Hartje's application for divorce. Hooe will probably be called for trial next week, and will plead guilty to the charge of perjury. He says he was promised $5000 to give the testimony he did. The prosecution will show that during the time he was absent from the city he received various sums of money. Altogether, according to his own statements, he got about $825. The prosecution will produce a number of applications for money orders which were made at the Pittsburg postoffice for money to be transferred to Hooe while he was on his travels.

The issuing of warrants in this case has been the greatest sensation so far in the now celebrated Hartje divorce case, but there are others to come. As soon as Mrs. Hartje's attorneys prove the letters presented in court the other day to be forgeries, new information will be made against a new set of defendants on another conspiracy charge. Informations for perjury and subornation of perjury will follow.

Thomas Madine, the coachman co-respondent, is still on the stand for cross-examination, although it has been really a third degree examination. Mrs. Hartje's attorneys offered no objections.

The young Irishman was a match for Mr. Marron, the young Irish lawyer, who is doing the questioning. He gave answers as rapidly as the questions were fired at him. One question made the audience gasp as some of the libellant's attorney was: "Do you remember Mr. ——— asking a woman to the house during Mrs. Hartje's absence in Memphis?"

Paid $10 for Silence.

"Yes," responded the witness promptly. "Mr. Hartje came out to me at the stable the Saturday following the day Mrs. Hartje went away. It was after dark. He told me to get out the depot wagon and put the blinds down. Then I drove him out to Forbes street, near the park. There he met a tall woman. After that I drove them back home. They got out of the carriage and went into the house by the front door. I went around to the stable with the team. Mr. Hartje came out of the back door of the house, walked back to the stable and told me not to say anything and gave me $10. I put the team away and came to Oakland, where I stayed in a poolroom until I was ready to go home to bed. When I left, there was a light in Mr. Hartje's bedroom. I do not know when the woman left the house."

Marron made the witness tell this story in detail and the wonder of the courtroom audience at the libellant introducing this in his own case grew. It was not cross-examination, but the attorneys for Mr. Hartje smiled and let it proceed. For almost an hour Marron worked over this incident, securing the same answers time and again from Madine. The object of it did not appear on the surface, but it is understood the libellant will offer witnesses in rebuttal who will make its object clear. Mrs. Hartje's attorneys evidently understood where it was going to lead to and allowed it to proceed.

"They are simply working out our case," her lawyers said.

Madin's statement concerning this mysterious woman, who has only appeared in this case before by the statement in Mrs. Hartje's bill of particulars filed in her application for divorce from Hartje, created a mild sensation. It is expected that the libellant will bring out matters in several letters introduced which will seek to make Madine out a perjurer.

The big sensation of the case is promised when the defense attempts to show who was the alleged forger of the letters. The Perkins Detective Agency, in the employ of Mrs. Hartje, is alleged to have located the person, and has her under constant surveillance, for it is a well-educated, remarkably bright young woman. One of the most surprising features of the case, it is said, will be that this person will testify that she did not know when she was forging these letters that she was aiding in a conspiracy. At least, it is understood this will be her defense.

Her claim, it is said, is that she was employed to write these letters under the misapprehension that it has something to do with the production of a melodrama in which forgery plays a leading part. Not being a resident of Pittsburg, or even of Pennsylvania, she knew nothing of the Hartje divorce case.

CUPID, SULKY AFTER "DUCKING" IN LAKE, PLAYS QUEER PRANK

Twice Reunites Estranged Couple for Whose Bethrothal He Worked Hard, Then Sends Them Apart, the Girl to Wed Former Fiance's Classmate, Man to Marry Classmate's Sister.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July '—Eloise Marion Farrel, daughter and heiress of Franklin Farrel of Ansonia, Conn., whose romance with David Hyler Gaines of New York had its sequel last week in the marriage of Mr. Gaines and Miss Florence Steuber of Erie, Pa., will soon become a bride. Her engagement to George A. Goss, son of Chauncey Goss of Waterbury, Conn., is just announced.

The strands of this interesting tangle, in which Cupid has contrived to tie such unexpected knots, have been closely interwoven for several years. Goss was graduated from Yale in the class of '03 with Gaines. Franklin Farrel Jr., Miss Farrel's brother, and the brother of the former Miss Steuber. With this as a setting for the story, the little god of love proceeded to mix things up.

When Gaines emerged from college he allowed himself only a summer vacation, and entered the employe of the Hoyler Confectionery Co., of which he is now secretary, as a $15-a-week clerk. He is the nephew of the head of the firm.

Miss Farrel was a graduate from Ogontz, Pa., in the same year. Although an heiress to $5,000,000, and already possessing $200,000, she studied stenography and became her father's private secretary in the big Farrel foundry and machine company.

The two met in California that winter. Gaines had gone on a business trip; Mr. Farrel, accompanied by his private secretary, was seeking health. They returned across the continent together, and love kept pace. Gaines thereafter visited Ansonia on an average of four times a week and the wedding was announced for June 22, 1904.

All went well until June 1, when the friends of the pair were startled by the news that the engagement was broken and the sorrowing bridemaids countermanded the order for the bewitching confections at $300 each. Exactly what was amiss could not be gleaned. There were those who said Miss Farrel objected to that little promise "to obey" in the wedding service.

Cupid Has a Chill.

Be that as it may, the break came immediately after an unpicturesque episode at Coney Island, where the pair so shortly to be wed were precipitated into the waterway of the shoot-the-chutes. Cupid had not time to don a bathing suit and had a chill.

Miss Farrel, with her mother, promptly sailed for Europe, but the gallant Mr. Gaines did not forget to wish her bon voyage. She disembarked from the Cedric at Liverpool on what was to have been her wedding day. Possibly this fact softened her mood. In any event, a reconciliation was soon in progress, and another wedding date set for the fall.

But Cpid had not forgiven that ducking. He still wheezed. The lovers embraced only to part again. Time passed, but the rift never mended. The blind boy was trying a new combination.

Last week David H. Gaines was married to Miss Florence Steuber, and now Miss Farrel has capped this tale of perverse emotion by accepting her former fiance's classmate. If the first romance traveled by express, the second is speeding by auto. Miss Farrel, who is a confirmed lover of the sport, with Goss at her side, raced in a crowded trolley car for ten miles between Derby and New Haven last Sunday. Her motor car broke down en route, but she made the repairs herself and beat the trolley. It may be an omen.

PHONE MEN TELL OF THE ICE TRUST

Officials of Bell Company Witnesses Before the Grand Jury.

ONE WITNESS MISSING

Promises to Attend, but Did Not Appear When Much Needed.

Chief Engineer Joyce of the Bell Telephone Co. is one of the witnesses who will be examined Friday afternoon by the grand jury as to the existence of an Ice Trust, which has been the subject of investigation by Circuit Attorney Sager and his assistants for two weeks.

General Manager F. R. Mott of the Bell company was one of the witnesses questioned by Assistant Circuit Attorney Fickeissen Tnursday afternoon. Mr. Mott said that the transactions of his company with the ice companies supplying his company gave rise to the belief that prices were regulated by some sort of a combination.

Mr. Mott told the Assistant Circuit Attorney that Mr. Joyce had direct charge of the phase of the business, and could give more direct evidence than he.

Joseph Gerardi, president of the Gerardi Hotel Co., and his son, Joseph Gerardi Jr., secretary of the same company, were also questioned. They explained the difficulties they had in obtaining prices on ice this year, and said that in former years there had been much active competition for the business they controlled.

Louis Sarazan, proprietor of the Frisco Building cafe and buffet, was another witness from whom Mr. Fickeissen gained information that he valued. Mr. Sarazan is a large consumer, and this year when he wanted to place his contract for ice he called up several ice dealers. He informed the companies that he desired prices. He said it was absolutely impossible to get a quotation. He was asked from whom he obtained his supply, and then was told that a solicitor would be sent to see him the next day. He talked with three or four companies, but was unable to get replies, and although all promised to send around solicitors, none came.

McPheeters Questioned.

Thomas S. McPheeters, president of the St. Louis Ice and Cold Storage Co., was with Mr. Fickeissen for more than an hour. Mr. McPherson's plant manufactures a large quantity of ice, and disposes of it to the Polar Wave Ice Co. on contract. He is familiar with the cost of production and many of the details of the business. Mr. Fickeissen said that Mr. McPheeters' information was valuable, but that at this time he could not make it public.

R. E. Tommerson of the Universal Cafe was a witness and was asked to return Friday, when several other restaurant men will be questioned.

L. J. Nichols, confidential man for the Polar Wave Co., for whom deputy sheriffs and Mr. Sager's special men have been looking for a week, failed to appear, although he had agreed in a telephone conversation to be present Thursday. Mr. Fickeissen was informed yesterday that Nichols was at present at a meeting at the Laclede Building early in April, when the prices were fixed.

Some of the restaurant men told the Circuit Attorney yesterday that they were informed by agents of the ice companies that the business agreements prohibited them taking customers from one another and cutting prices.

Mr. Fickeissen stated that if he obtained the evidence he hoped to get quo warranto proceedings would be instituted at once.

Cost Almost Double.

E. R. Johnson, who says his ice which formerly cost $1.75 a ton, and now costs $3, is one of the witnesses who will testify Friday.

Johnson is in business at 2216 Biddle street. He was a customer of the Griesedieck company, and the $1.75 price prevailed then. When the Merchants' company gained possession of the business, the price advanced to $2, and at the opening of the season this year the price went to $3. Frank Eichorn, 516 East Espencheld street, and George Noe of 4427 Race Course avenue, who had experience similar to Johnson, are also among Friday's witnesses.

ALIBI WITNESS IS ARRESTED IN COURT

Appearing for Accused Friend, East Side Man Encounters Trouble.

Albert Holland went into the Circuit Court in Belleville Friday morning desiring to prove an alibi for a friend. Instead, his entire attention will be taken up for some time in establishing one for himself. He was arrested in the courtroom and bound over on the charge of burglary and larceny.

June 25, a freight car of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad was raided at night by some young men. F. M. Cecil, a special officer of the railroad, happened along in time to see the theft, and he arrested Elmer O. Fields. The rest of the crowd got away while Cecil was making sure of Fields, but he used his eyes while both hands were busy and kept the mental picture he took for future reference.

Friday morning Fields had his preliminary examination, and a small army of his friends assembled in the courtroom to assist him in establishing an alibi. Cecil was called on to testify. As he told his story, his gaze wandered over the spectators. Suddenly he sat up in the witness chair.

"There's another one of 'em right there," he cried, pointing to Holland, who was sitting with Fields' alibi witnesses. "I saw that fellow run away from the car."

Holland was arrested and both he and Fields were held in $500 bonds.

LAWYER DENIES FERRY COMBINE

There Is No Written Agreement Between Terminal and Wiggins Co.

The Terminal Railroad Association, through its attorney, M. F. Watts, Friday formally and officially denied the existence of a written agreement between it and the Wiggins Ferry Co. Mr. Watts made the denial at the hearing by Special Commissioner Rombauer in the suit of the United States Government to dissolve the Terminal Combine.

Judge Rombauer had issued an order commanding the defendants to produce certain papers, including articles of agreement between the Terminal and other lines. All of these were submitted except the Wiggins Ferry agreement.

"We know of no such document," said Mr. Watts.

"There may be no document, but I think we can prove an oral agreement," said E. C. Crow, leading counsel for the Government.

The remainder of the morning session was taken up by Julius Pitzman, who explained a new map of the Terminal Association lines, compiled by agreement of counsel by both sides.

At noon the hearing was adjourned until 2:30 p. m.

EAST SIDE "LID" GOES ON SUNDAY

One Week From That Time Latest Date for Its Application.

DUE TO COUNCIL FIGHT

Chief Says Decreased Force Can't Handle St. Louis Crowds.

The lid will go on in East St. Louis next Sunday, or a week from Sunday at the latest. A Post-Dispatch reporter learned from a reliable source Friday that next Sunday would probably be dry.

There are two reasons for this unceremonious fastening on of the lid, the result of a crisis in the squabble between Mayor Cook and the insurgent Citizens' party aldermen.

Mayor Cook was elected on the Independent Municipal ticket. Since May 1 the Citizens' party has had a majority of the Council. The insurgents have 10 members to the Cook party's 4, and can pass any ordinance over the Mayor's veto.

Mayor Cook has the appointing power, but since May 1, when the insurgents took their seats, they have solidly voted to refuse to approve the Mayor's appointments. The old officials have held over. The insurgents have openly stated that they are after Chief of Police Purdy's scalp, and will not stand for his reappointment.

The insurgents brought the matter to a crisis last Monday, when they introduced an ordinance to reorganize the Police Department, abolish the office of Chief of Police, create the office of Superintendent of Police, cut down the number of policemen and decrease the number of detectives, or special officers, from 12 to 2.

They also passed a resolution commanding the Police Department to stop all music in saloons, and to strictly enforce the saloon-closing ordinances. The resolution states that any person can make a complaint to the Council Committee on police, showing violation of the saloon ordinances. It gives the committee and the Council the power to censure or remove from office the policemen or the head of the Police Department.

This penalty, it is claimed, is aimed at Chief Purdy, and gives the Council power to remove him from office, a power the Council has not had heretofore.

The resolution was passed by a strict party vote of 10 to 4. On motion of two Cook Aldermen, the ordinance reorganizing the department was referred to the Police Council Committee for a report next Monday. After service of a certified copy of the resolution on Chief Purdy, the Chief considered that as the only way for him to protect himself and to prevent a charge that the saloon ordinances were being violated, the lid must go on.

The other reason is that the reorganization ordinance, cutting down the number of special men and police, would make it impossible to protect East St. Louis against the crowd crossing the bridge to escape the St. Louis lid every Sunday.

The special men have been used in enforcing the midnight-closing ordinance and other saloon ordinances.

This part of the program is an unexpected back-action to the insurgents. Some of them are saloon keepers, and one is the agent of a brewery, and they do not want the lid. Within the last two days, and since the tip went out that the lid was coming, the insurgents have been besieged by representatives of the saloons and breweries, and they have found that the duties of aldermen are not all pleasure.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' Association will hold a special meeting at 9 a. m. Saturday.

HELEN KELLER HONORED.

Made Member of Commission to Educate Blind.

BOSTON, July 6.—Miss Helen Keller of Wrentham, the deaf and blind girl, will be a member of the new Commission for the Industrial Education of the Blind, which has long been advocated by her and which recently was created by the Legislature.

Gov. Guild yesterday announced the appointment of five members to make up this commission. Miss Keller's term will be four years.

DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS

LOCAL STOCKS AGAIN QUIET

Sales Are Confined to a Few Issues at the Early Session.

PRICES ARE STEADY

General Range Shows Little Variation From Yesterday's Finals.

Local trading was quiet again today and the brokerage element took little interest in the proceedings. Prices, however, showed a little better tone and United Railways common met with a better demand at $49 sales and closing bids at this figure. United Railways 4s were steady at $80 and the preferred stock was inactive.

In the bank and trust list the demand at the early session was limited to Missouri-Lincoln Trust, which was steady at $133.50. Other issues in this class showed little if any change.

Kansas City Home Telephone stock at $69.20 was the other active issue. The bond list was quiet but firm.

BUYERS CONTROL THE WALL STREET MARKET

Report That Ore Deal Is Nearing Completion Puts Bears to Flight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Irregularity marked the opening of the securities market today and on most of the issues quoted prices were lower. Trading was only moderately active and market sentiment is still badly mixed.

The selling in the late market yesterday was in the nature of a bear drive, but it indicates nevertheless that the big bear interests still have a commanding position in the market. With the elimination of the short element prices were marked down rapidly and there was the same absence of support which was so noticeable in the recent downward movement. Commission houses are still advising conservatism. The London market on Americans was lower.

The Day's Market.

Prices ran up rapidly in the second hour under the influence of the report that the purchase of the ore lands by the Great Northern Railroad by the United States Steel Corporation had been completed and that the announcement would be made any day. Great Northern preferred jumped from 281½ to 283¾ and Northern Pacific rose from 195⅝ to 200. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific rose in sympathy and the United States Steel securities advanced very sharply. The general list made a quick recovery from the early depression and got a sharp fraction above yesterday's closing before the demand died out. The details of the plan by which the ore land transfer will be made are not known, but it is semi-officially stated that the property will be taken under a long-time lease, which will provide for an increased output of ore every year. A new collateral or ole land securities will be issued to Great Northern stockholders, and a stock dividend of new Great Northern stock also be declared. With the closing of this long talked of and important deal the United States Steel Corporation will be in practically in control of the ore producing lands of the country for at least a very long time to come.

There was not much of importance in the general news. Some significance is being attached to Mr. Vanderlip's speech of yesterday, but it is thought that it was intended to stir up the bankers of this State so that when a new currency bill is presented to Congress there will be good backing and a good chance to have it enacted into law. The foreign cables intimate the probability of easier money abroad and it is practically certain that we shall have fairly easy call funds during the balance of the month.

The monetary situation is improving and if the St. Paul road should negotiate its loan abroad there will not be the slightest reason for any trouble this fall. In any event the Treasury Department will be in excellent condition to relieve the market should the necessity occur. The July disbursements are finding their way very quickly into natural channels and are materially aiding the present money market. Call funds ruled at 3@4 per cent early trading at 3 per cent, with the demand only moderate. Sales to noon were 401,500 shares.

BOOKS TO MAKE NEW CITIZENS

New Yorker Tells Librarians How Foreigners May Be Assimilated.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., July 6.—A recommendation to help immigrants to become citizens was made to the American Library Association today by James H. Canfield of the Columbia University Law Library. He said:

"There ought to be in every public library in every city of any size at least the classics in several languages, to win the confidence of these people and to draw them to these libraries. Once there they should find elementary text-books in civics and other literature that will help them in their new relations, translated from English into their own language. In other words, securing them as patrons of the public library by their own classics, we should minister to their needs precisely as we minister to the needs of our own people."

The following officers were elected: President, C. W. Andrews, John Creerar Library, Chicago; first vice-president, P. H. Andrews, Albany, N. Y.; second vice-president, Katherine L. Sharp, University of Illinois Library, Urbana, Ill.; secretary, J. I. Wyer, Albany, N. Y.; treasurer, G. F. Bowerman, District of Columbia Public Library; recorder, Helen E

Nicaragua President's Son, Arrested for Stealing Shirt, and His American Bride

ALFONSI ZELAYA

MISS MARGUERITE BAKER.

THAT ZELAYA BOY IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Son of Nicaragua's President Arrested on Charge of Larceny.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Alphonse Zelaya, son of the President of Nicaragua, was arrested here, charged with petty larceny, and released on $10 collateral bail. Only yesterday he was engaged to play the piano in a downtown saloon.

This scion of the first family of Nicaragua about a year ago met Miss Marguerite Baker in a boarding house here. They were planning their wedding one night when the young man was seized and carried from the house to an apartment house, where he was confined several days, and then started on his way to Nicaragua. He vowed vengeance on his abductors, who were thought to be agents of the Nicaraguan Government, and declared he would return to marry Miss Baker.

He came to Washington again last spring, and he and Miss Baker were married. They went to New York with the intention of sailing for Nicaragua. They never got any further. Zelaya's funds ran low, and no money reached him from his family or the legation. The situation became so grave that Mrs. Zelaya returned to Washington. She stayed a short time with friends and then rented a room in the central part of the city. When she had been there three weeks her husband came back.

That was a week ago. The landlady asked for the room and Monday, while the husband was away, Mrs. Zelaya moved out and went to friends. Zelaya had found another abode.

Then occupants of the boarding house discovered that they had been relieved of various articles. Zelaya, so it is alleged, made the mistake of wearing a shirt belonging to Policeman Sampson, who lived in the house. The policeman swore out a warrant for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Zelaya have separated, "this time for good," so the wife says. She vows she never will go back to him, and the romance which began so rosily about this time last year has been shattered to smithereens.

BOND FOR MRS DEASSO.

Application for the release on bond of Mrs. Maud Deasso was accepted Friday morning by Justice McKane at East St. Louis, who fixed the amount at $500 and the charge at assault with intent to kill. The woman is accused of having twice shot her husband, Peter, through the head Thursday.

Efforts were being made in the morning to have the bond perfected, and friends of Mrs. Deasso expectd her to be freed in the afternoon. She has her 3-year-old adopted child with her in Jail and inquired anxiously a number of times as to the condition of her wounded husband.

Deasso was somewhat improved Friday, but St. Mary's Hospital physicians believe he cannot recover.

The bond was made so light, it is said, because the police believe the woman shot in self-defense.

TRUSTED MAN MISSING.

The Pacific Express Co., through its agent, John M. Crogan, Friday notified the police that Chris Loefel, one of its oldest and most trusted employes, had been missing since last Monday evening, when he left the company's office at Union Station to go to his home, 2153 East Linton avenue.

Hoefel was formerly a messenger for the Southern Express Co., and for the last 20 years had been employed by the Pacific Express Co. During the greater part of that time he had been on the road as a messenger. Recently, because of his age, he was employed as a check clerk at Union Station.

He is 61 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. His complexion is light and he has a sandy mustache and beard. He wore a blue coat and vest and gray trousers.

SAYS DAUGHTER'S LOVER CHOKED HER

Because she refused to become his mother-in-law, Abe Herman, 23 years old, is alleged to have choked Mrs. Ida Baron of 1120 Biddle street and thrust her head through a glass window. The police of the Carr Street District are looking for him.

Herman is in love with Sadie, the pretty daughter of Mrs. Baron. A week ago he nerved himself up to the point of asking Mrs. Baron for her daughter's hand. Mrs. Baron told him to stay away from the house altogether.

Thursday night Herman met Mrs. Baron in front of the store of Mrs. Celia Bloch, 1201 Biddle street. Tipping his hat politely, he approached her and in gentlemanly tones inquired if he might have the pleasure of calling on Sadie.

"No, you can't," replied Mrs. Baron.

"Can't I?" shouted Herman.

The next instant Mrs. Baron charges. Herman had one of his hands on the back of her neck and the other about her throat. He shook her two or three times and then thrust her head through the window of Mrs. Bloch's store. There he held her head until a crowd gathered and then he disappeared, the woman told the police when she asked Herman's arrest. Mrs. Baron was not hurt, the police say.

BRYAN MEETS WAR SECRETARY HALDANE

LONDON, July 6.—William Jennings Bryan today lunched with Major John H. Beacom, the United States Military Attache, to meet War Secretary Haldane. The luncheon was arranged particularly so that Mr. Bryan and Mr. Haldane could meet. No other guests were present.

Ambassador Reid and Mrs. Reid gave a luncheon at Dorchester House today to a large party of visiting Americans, including Paul Morton and Mrs. and Miss Morton, Bishop William P. Lawrence of Massachusetts and Miss Lawrence, John W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue; M. O. Keeler, former Governor of Connecticut, and D. O. Mills.

HOLY MOSES' KINDNESS.

Here's another one on Holy Moses.

Ben Selkirk vouches for it and his business precludes him from fib relating.

This is a tale of Holy Moses' remarkable kindness unto little children, as the big elephant affects it at the Jefferson Club carnival at Handlan's Park. Holy Moses was roaming aimlessly about the grounds Thursday evening and espied a booth which he had never explored. It proved to be the Firefighters' exhibit.

Holy Moses brushed back the entrance and lumbered in. Just as his massive forefoot was about to descend, the sagacious brute noticed two children, Ben Selkirk, son of the manager, and a tiny girl named Sallie Caton, directly in his path.

Holy Moses might have stepped on them if he had been a bad pachyderm, but he is a good elephant and he didn't crush the little sightseers. His little eyes beamed with benevolence and kindness, according to Ben Selkirk, and hastily drawing back the ponderous foot he gracefully entwined his trunk about each of the little ones and lifted them out of the way.

Holy Moses even smiled an elephant smile, Ben Selkirk says, flapped his expansive ears gently and continued his promenade. The children fled to their parents and told of the incident and great honors and a big bag of peanuts were awarded Holy Moses after his evening walk.

FIGHT CAUSED BY BOY.

Two locksmiths with neighboring places of business were in the City Hall Police Court Friday charged with disorderly conduct. One of them, Henry Fricke of 1120 South Eighth street, was fined $5, and the other, Walter Underwood of 1307 South Seventh street, was discharged.

Their woes were due to the action of a customer in telling Fricke what Underwood thought of the business ability of the former. The two places of business are on opposite sides of Seventh street, that of Underwood being at his home address. Thursday a boy visited Fricke's shop to get a spring put in a lock. During the argument as to the kind of a spring that was needed the boy intimated to Fricke, according to the testimony, that his competitor across the street did not think Fricke knew much about locks anyway.

Fricke went across the street, according to the testimony, and there was a wrestling match. Mrs. Underwood came forward with a broomstick, when Fricke was at the bottom, and Underwood received the full force of his wife's aid. This stopped the fight, for Underwood arose to discuss his wife's peacemaking efforts.

RAILROAD KING'S SON IS DROWNED

Young Twombly, Philanthropist at 18, Meets Death in Lake.

FATHER A MILLIONAIRE

Was Helping School Faculty Give Outing to Impecunious Students.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ASHLAND, N. H., July 6.—Hamilton McK. Twombly Jr. of New York was drowned last night in Big Asquam Lake, off the village of Holderness, six miles from here. He was the only son of Hamilton McK. Twombly, millionaire and society leader of New York and Newport, was 18 years old and was graduated only last month from Groton School at Groton, Mass., preparatory to entering Harvard in the fall.

Pathetically enough, Youung Twombly was engaged in helping to give an outing at the time he met his death to a dozen or more boys in humble circumstances. The youngsters had been sent into camp three weeks ago at the expense of the boys of Groton School, and Twombly had accompanied them as an assistant to members of the faculty of Groton, who had them in charge. He was not only popular at his school, but was in great favor with the boys at the camp. He was a good swimmer and was frequently out in the lake on long swimming excursions.

Twombly started to swim from the Groton School camp to Carn's Cove, two miles away. He had reached a point only a short distance from the shore where the camp is located when he was apparently seized with cramps. He was seen to struggle in the water by several of the other boys at the camp, but before any of them could reach him he disappeared from view. The body was recovered within a short time after the accident and brought to Ashland.

Dr. J. M. Chaney of Ashland was summoned. Life was not entirely extinct when the boy was brought ashore, but it being 10 miles to the doctor's home, Twombly was dead before the doctor could arrive.

PARENT MARRIED MISS FLORENCE VANDERBILT.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 6.—H. McK. Twombly has been listed by an expert as one of the 72 men who constitute the business oligarchy of the United States. He is one of the railroad kings of the world, and represents the Vanderbilt interests in several of their great trunk lines.

Mrs. Twombly was Miss Florence Adele Vanderbilt, youngest daughter of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, and was married to Mr. Twombly on Nov. 21, 1877. One son and three daughters were born. One daughter died in her sixteenth year.

BIG PANE OF GLASS FELL ON HIS HEAD

Man Walking on Olive Street Injured by Seventh-Story Accident.

Hundreds of persons, thoroughly frightened, fled in a panic at Sixth and Olive streets a short time before noon Friday, when a large pane of glass fell from the seventh floor of the Commercial Building and crashed in a thousand pieces upon the sidewalk. There were many narrow escapes. Only one person was hurt.

He was cut in the back of the head by a piece of glass. One stitch was taken in the wound by Dr Penke in his office in the Commercial Building.

The glass fell from the quarters of the Republican State Committee, on the Olive street side of the seventh floor of the building. Mack Hawkins, a janitor, broke the window in trying to open it. After the wound was dressed the injured man was able to walk home.

PREMIER TELLS HOW LITTLE NEW ZEALAND "BUSTS" THE TRUSTS

Never Had an Ice Monopoly to Deal With, but He Explains What the Government Would Do to It if One Should Have Nerve Enough to Exist.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A typical New Zealander has come to town—Sir Jos. G. Ward, premier of the colony. A talk with him is as full of interest as mortal man can make it. In fact, his people and his country are so different from others as to make one think them a new race of men.

Sir Joseph dines with President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay today and will leave tonight for San Francisco.

Everybody who reads knows, of course, that the government of New Zealand is only 65 years old; that 1,000,000 men and women living on that long, narrow island, which contains about as much land as Great Britain, are the richest people in the world; that they have abolished monopolies and trusts and poverty; that the central government runs the railroad, postal, telegraph, police, telephone, water and drainage service; that the government pays a pension of $130 a year to any decent citizen 65 years or older who asks for it, and that it provides life and fire insurance, lends money to farmers on mortgage at 3 per cent, and acts as a wise trustee of dead men's estates.

But when the New Yorkers, who met Sir Joseph, heard him tell in simple language just how he and his countrymen worked out these things, how the New Zealanders have actually created a government of the people, by the people very much for the benefit of the people, they were astonished by the apparent ease with which these things are done.

"It is the most surprising history I have ever read," said one of them to the New Zealander. "It all sounds so ridiculously easy—provided that all are working for the common good."

"Our system hardly implies that," Sir Joseph replied. "We simply give every man, no matter how great or how small, an equal chance before the law. We have absolutely no privileged class or privileged individuals. I don't think you'll find a beggar in the colony. I'm sure we have not had one at our door in ten or twelve years."

Worked Way Upwards.

Sir Joseph George Ward arrived in New York on the Majestic on the way to New Zealand, where he goes to assume the position of Premier of the colony. Beginning as a civil servant 20 years ago, he has advanced to his present post through seven of the most important offices of the Government. No detail escapes him.

In person the Premier is brisk and cordial, with a suggestion of great physical as well as mental strength. He is five feet nine inches tall, broad-shouldered, deep-chested and big muscled. His step is active and springy and he looks strong enough to give any stalwart man a hard tussle at boxing or wrestling. He has strong hands and a firm, dry, warm grip—the grip of a sincere and kindly man with plenty of self reliance.

The Premier was entertained at the Lavender Club by Arthur Brisbane and other editors. After luncheon the Premier made a brief speech, telling of the builders of New Zealand.

"Socialistic and paternal our Government has been called, but the present administration has been in power for 15 years and today even those who opposed—and in some cases, bitterly opposed—could not dare to advocate a repeal of the law by which the resources of our country are administered for the greatest good of the greatest number."

Sir Joseph told how the Government maintains a labor bureau so as to bring those who need men and those who need work into quick contact; of the loan of railroad fares to those who wish to travel to get work; of the cheap railroad, telegraph and telephone rates; of the low rates of fire and life insurance; of the postal savings banks and the many other marvels of his country.

"What would you do if any man or trust would try to 'corner' the market in any commodity?" was asked.

"The Government," Sir Joseph replied, "would not make the risky experiment of fixing an arbitrary price for any commodity. But the situation could be met. For example, complaint was made a few years ago that a combination of dealers had agreed to pay a price unfairly low for wheat, and charge an exorbitant price for flour. The Government made a careful examination of the facts, then threatened to take the tariff off flour, so that it could come into the colony free. The movement to 'corner' the market ceased immediately. We think the people can successfully cope with any attempt to 'corner' any needful thing.

Busting the Trusts.

"A man asked me today what we would do in New Zealand if an ice trust attempted to put up the price of ice beyond the bounds of reason. I replied that the Government would build ice factories and enter into competition with the trust, selling ice at a fair profit. That is the only method we know of in New Zealand to secure absolute fairness in the distribution of public necessities."

Sir Joseph mentioned as further instances of how well this plan worked that the New Zealand Government, when coal prices were boosted, had bought coal lands, and brought the price down by competition which was fair to the private coal producers and gave the State a fair profit in the sale of coal. And when the insurance interests combined to raise the rates the Government again entered the field. After the Government had gone into the insurance business, rates came down 33 1-3 per cent.

"I think it has been common human experience," said Sir Joseph at another point in his speech, "that in the evolution from the prairie to the city it is not feasible to make the leopard change his spots. But you can educate the people to understand that state control of public utilities will do away with many evils—as far as the public welfare is concerned—growing out of this condition. We have done this. In New Zealand the Government absolutely owns all public utilities. We do not interfere with private enterprise except where such enterprise interferes with the rights of the people—which with us, is the Government.

And There Are No Rebates.

Sir Joseph spoke of State control of railways as one of the means which have enabled the New Zealand cattle raiser, though further distant from the great market emporiums of the world, than any other set of usurpers of the same commodity, to compete in the London market with the United States, Canada and the Argentine Republic.

"We are not, under our system of state ownership, aiming at making the railways bring large profits into our treasury," he said. "We consider them as being to the life of the community and its industry what the spinal marrow is to the human organism. When our railways produce over 3 or 3½ per cent we make large concessions in passenger and freight rates. As a result, we have the cheapest passenger and freight rates in the world.

"And—more important than this—there is no private or public rebate. The small and the big shipper are treated exactly alike. The rats are treated exactly alike. The rates are examined from time to time by a public auditor, and the results proclaimed to the people. With us any Government which tried discrimination or any other form of violation of the rules, would be quickly discovered under this system of control, and after discovery would not last 48 hours."

SIX DIE IN LAKE; BOAT A DEATHTRAP

Owners of Resort Near Council Bluffs (Io.) to Be Prosecuted.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Io., July 6.—Five more bodies of the victims of the Kursaal disaster on the night of July 4 were recovered from the waters of Lake Manawa by professional divers yesterday, making a total of six bodies recovered.

One diver reported seeing the body of a little baby, but an eddy carried it away before it could be secured. It is believed that when the search is finished as many as a dozen bodies will have been found. Three persons who were absolutely known to have gone down in the wreckage have not returned to their homes, and it is almost certain that they perished.

County Attorney Patrick declares he will bring warrants against the officers of the Lake Manawa resort and prosecute them on the charge of criminal negligence.

Investigation of that portion of the Kursaal which gave way shows the cause to have been poor construction in the flooring. Heavy joists were held in place by only one nail in each end. Only 18 nails had been used in the construction of nearly 500 feet of flooring, and when the first nail gave way the balance speedily followed, and those on the floor went into the water.

The Lake Manawa resort was owned by the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway, which in turn is the property of the Seligman Bros. of New York. No damage suits have yet been filed, but several are in course of preparation.

The lake is a portion of an old channel of the Missouri River, which has been left five miles from the main stream, and has been made into a summer resort for the citizens of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs.

UNLUCKY DRAW REWARDS FINDER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 6.—A traveling man, who refused to give his name, dropped a wallet, containing $3000, in the street here today. The wallet was found by Daniel Wertman, a coal hauler, who promptly turned it over to the owner.

The stranger adopted a unique way of rewarding Wertman. Before a crowd, he held the roll of bills before the finder and told him to close his eyes and draw one bill, which should be his.

The wad contained all kinds of bills, from $1 to $100. Wertman drew and got $1.

AID SOCIETY'S PICNIC.

Hebrew Outing to Take Place at Normandy.

The Young Men's and Ladies' Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society elected the following officers Wednesday evening: President, Sol. Goldman; vice-president, Mary Fiennabaum; recording secretary, I. Kaiser; financial secretary, Annie Rosenblatt; treasurer, M. Routman.

The annual picnic of the society will be given at Normandy Grove next Sunday, and I. Kaiser, chairman of the Picnic Committee, has arranged a fine program of games, races and athletic events.

The organization was established Jan. 20, 1905, with only 10 members, and now has 150. Its chief purpose is to assist immigrants to find work, and it has succeeded in aiding about 75 to obtain permanent employment. Other charitable work is also prosecuted. An employment bureau will be established shortly.

Made in St. Louis.

For boys, for girls—Buster Brown shoes—worn by Buster himself—which proves their wearing quality. Sold by leading dealers.

PICNIC AT MONTESANO.

Thomas J. Morgan to Address Socialists.

The St. Louis Socialists will hold their annual picnic at Montesano Park next Sunday. The steamer City of Providence will make three round trips to the park, leaving the foot of Olive street at 9 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. A special Iron Mountain train will leave Union Station at 12:30 p. m., stopping at Tower Grove, Oak Hill and Broadway (Caronde et) stations.

The principal speaker at the grounds will be Thomas J. Morgan of Chicago, one of the pioneers in the American Socialistic movement. He will deliver addresses at 1 a. m. and 4 p. m. He is a member of the law firm of Morgan & Rubinstein, and is popularly known as "Tommy" Morgan. When 8 years old he went to work as a blacksmith's helper, and for 25 years was employed in the machine shop. During that period he was prominently connected with labor and socialistic affairs.

After-Season Selling

POWERFUL PRICE-CONCESSIONS THAT PLACE THE STAMP OF SINCERITY ON THE MODEL'S EFFORTS TO MAKE A CLEAN SWEEP OF ALL REMAINING SPRING AND SUMMER STOCKS.

TOMORROW, Saturday, with the opening of the doors at 8 a. m., begins at this store a selling event of importance to every clothing buyer in St. Louis, bar none. The fact that we always show our patrons new, stylish, up-to-date merchandise is a prominent factor in our success. We can do this only by effective clean-ups at the end of each season. IT IS THE MODEL'S POLICY NOT TO CARRY ANY GOODS OVER. We live up to this policy, as thousands of patrons in St. Louis and tributary towns can testify. For several days and nights past we've been going through the great stocks, COMBINING ALL OF THE BROKEN LOTS IN A FEW IN ORDER TO COMPLETE SIZES, marking the goods down, and otherwise preparing for the campaign of sacrifice selling which begins tomorrow morning. Our methods are open and above board. We have nothing to conceal from the public. During the after-season selling period, as usual, every article in the house will be marked in plain figures.

The reductions from our regular prices will range from 25 to 40 per cent.

We've had a phenomenally big Spring business, and now we must pocket a loss in the interest of modern merchandising. We are willing. We have but one object in view—the absolute, complete clearance of all Spring and Summer weights.
